That artists are also gentlemen was conclusively proved by the committee at the benefit dance of the Society of Illustrators in New York, which preferred Dorothy Arnold as the most beautiful blonde with the most perfect features there.

RADIO ACTION IS EXPLAINED

Chairman Willard Smith of the county board of supervisors made known today that he had filed a protest with the Federal Communications commission against Santa Ana's application for a police radio permit purely as an emergency step "to protect the county's interests" until the board of supervisors had opportunity to determine its attitude.

The county board had not been advised by Santa Ana officials of their intention to apply for the radio permit, said Smith, and when information reached him unofficially that the application had been filed, and he was aware that such a radio station would infringe upon the time allotted the county police radio, he acted to protect the county's interests.

CONGRESS TO GET PLEA FOR MOONEY

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Rep. Jerry J. O'Connell, D., Mont., said today he would introduce a resolution Monday calling for congress to request the governor of California to pardon Thomas Mooney, labor leader imprisoned in connection with the Preparedness day bombing in San Francisco in 1916.

Freighter Speeds To Aid Of Steamship

CREW READY TO ABANDON CARGO BOAT

BULLETIN NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—(UP)—The disabled steamer Volunteer is attempting to proceed toward Kobe, Japan, under reduced speed, Capt. M. W. Geldert advised the Lykes brothers offices here by radio-gram today. The master of the ship said eight feet of water was in No. 1 hold and that a freighter 240 miles away is proceeding to the Volunteer's aid.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(UP)—Crew members of the steamship Volunteer, in distress 550 miles southeast of Yokohama, today prepared to take to lifeboats while the British freighter Fresno City speeded to the ship's aid.

Messages intercepted from the stricken vessel indicated it was in grave danger of sinking, with water pouring into her holds. There was no indication how long the ship could remain afloat.

The liner Empress of Canada was further from the vicinity but was standing by so that its powerful radio facilities would be available to relay messages.

The ship was en route to Manila after having made the circuit from New Orleans to the Orient.

Two other ships, the Kykato Maru and the Tayo Maru, both of which were in the vicinity, reported by radio, in messages relayed through Globe wireless, that they were speeding to the aid of the Volunteer. It was believed, however, that the Fresno City would reach the ship first.

The Volunteer sailed from New Orleans February 7, bound for Kobe, Japan. It was due at Kobe March 30.

The Volunteer carried a crew of 36 men under Capt. M. W. Geldert of New Orleans. They signed on at Galveston, last port of call, before putting out for Kobe via the Panama canal on February 14. The ship left Honolulu on March 14. She was loaded with general cargo.

Lykes Brothers, owners, bought the Volunteer from the government in 1924. The 7000 ton ship was built in 1918 in California.

VATICAN CITY, March 27.—(UP)—Pope Pius today made his second appeal within 10 days to those well blessed with worldly goods to help their less fortunate fellows.

Third in 10 Days In an encyclical—his third in the 10 days—addressed to the Roman Catholic hierarchy of Mexico, the pope said that the most efficacious means of restoring church life in Mexico was (1) sanctification of the clergy; (2) collaboration of the laity in the apostolic work of the hierarchy.

As part of this work the pope recommended religious and economic assistance to industrial and workers, comprising the lowlier and needier of the Mexican people, "in order that we may reach their souls."

Urges Justice, Charity He advised application of the principle of justice and charity "in order to assure to all at least that minimum of this world's goods which is indispensable for safeguarding human dignity, eliminating abuses and guarding against violent changes which only cause harm instead of good."

It was recalled at once that in the first of his three recent encyclicals, on Communism March 18, the pope urged upon Roman Catholics "detachment from worldly goods and application of Christian charity, especially justice . . . justice above all, which should induce employers of labor and the wealthy to recognize the inalienable right of the workman to a salary sufficient for himself and his family, and to safeguard even in his labor his lasting dignity as a man and a child of God."

OPEN TRAFFIC CAMPAIGN SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 27.—(UP)—Immediate arrest and detention in jail was decreed by Chief of Police George Sears today for all motorists involved in accidents where injury or death occurs.

NEW CHAIRMAN

Joseph P. Kennedy of New York, nominated and approved for the post of chairman of the U. S. Maritime commission. Approval was held up for a time because Kennedy is financially interested in a ship building corporation.

2 HELD AFTER SHOTGUN FIGHT

SALINAS, Calif., March 27.—(UP)—Two asserted still operators were under arrest here today following a shotgun battle in which three men, barricaded in a farm house, opened fire on nine board of equalization agents.

Officers Retreat Attempting to raid what they believed to be one of the largest illicit alcohol manufacturing plants in the state, the officers retreated from the house under fire and took refuge behind their parked cars.

Three men, identified later as Giovanni Sachl, 49, Joe Fomilio, 44, and his son, Leo, 15, continued their bombardment, and within a few minutes had riddled the automobiles behind which the unarmed officers were hiding.

Sheriff Summoned At the first lull in the firing, the officers fled on foot to a nearby farm house and summoned Sheriff Carl Abbott. Abbott arrived with a squad of deputies and Constable P. H. Skilleen of Pajaro. They forced the surrender of the trio and discovered a 500 gallon capacity still several hundred yards from the house.

While the agents were searching for the still, Nello Bandoni, 39, San Francisco, drove into the place in an automobile which officers said contained 1800 one pound bags of sugar and 100 pounds of yeast.

Two Arrested Bandoni and Albert Ertz, 21, who was found at the still, were taken into custody and placed under arrest. Sheriff Abbott said they would not arrest Sachl, Fomilio or his son until the agents issued warrants.

HALF POUND N. Y. INFANT SUCCUMBS NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—Physicians sought permission today to deliver a mystery that violated the established tenets of life and science—the survival for 18½ hours of an infant that weighed barely more than half a pound.

They marveled that the slender thread of life ran so long. If the parents are willing, they will perform an autopsy to seek an explanation.

The child, born in the fourth month of gestation to Mrs. Saverio Vita, 38, died shortly before last midnight at the Israel Zion hospital in Brooklyn.

Dr. George J. Scovener, who delivered the child, described him: "The size of the head, although I didn't measure it, appears to be about an inch and a half in diameter, or similar to the size of a hen's egg."

CLAIM MORE ITALIANS TO JOIN REBELS

VALENCIA, Spain, March 27.—(UP)—Morning papers today said they had learned from an "absolutely reliable source" that Italy is planning to send 100,000 men to Spain to fight with the rebels for a Fascist victory.

The press in the loyalist wartime capital here said Italy was assembling arms at Turin, Milan and Genoa for shipment to rebel Spanish territory.

It also was charged that Germany is using the port of Pillau in East Prussia for shipments to rebel-controlled Spain in the civil war against the leftist government.

ITALIAN EMBASSY DENIES ASSURANCE TO BRITAIN LONDON, March 27.—(UP)—The Italian embassy today denied it had given any fresh assurance to Great Britain that Italy would refrain from sending more soldiers to Spain to fight for the rebels there.

The United Press simultaneously learned authoritatively that Premier Benito Mussolini's instructions to the Italian ambassador here, Dino Grandi, to refuse to discuss any proposal to recall foreign "volunteers" from Spain, would stand intact.

A spokesman at the embassy emphasized that Italy already was bound to prohibit departure of fresh contingents to Spain. He said any renewed promise would convey the impression that Italy's participation in the ban against aid to either warring faction enforced since February 20 was never really intended seriously.

British officials confirmed the Italian embassy denial of the report—printed in the Daily Telegraph here—which said Italy had tendered a new pledge to send no more troops.

These are popularly supposed to be two of the most lucrative offices in the county, and the supervisors apparently want to know just how much they do pay.

Salary Minor Item What they can do about it is another question. The public administrator, at least, has no salary to cut off, and it would require state legislation to change the fee system in either office, it is pointed out.

The supervisors could, of course, slice the sheriff's salary, but that is generally understood to be a minor item of his compensation.

The supervisors are said to be contemplating pay increases in the smaller brackets, and equalization of salaries of chief deputies in the various departments.

Boy Scouts Seek Body of Leader SAFFORD, Ariz., March 27.—(UP)—Thirteen hundred Arizona Boy Scouts joined 400 possemen and officers today in searching Gila valley irrigation canals for the body of Robert M. Miller, missing 23-year-old Safford Boy Scout executive.

The hunt, spurred by a $500 reward offered by the national Boy Scout organization for Miller's return, dead or alive, spread rapidly into New Mexico and Texas.

Sheriff Ernest Kempton believed Miller's slayer or abductor fled east into those states after driving Miller's automobile to Dunsmuir, near the New Mexico line, where he abandoned it.

Or, you might just as well ask slight bruises. She is improving today.

The McCormacs were turning onto Highway 191 from a side road and their machine was in the path of the speeding locomotive before they realized it.

"It was a terrifying instant," explained McCormac. "I looked up and there was the train—flying at me. It looked inches away. I knew my only chance was to step on the gas and try to beat the engine."

The train cracked the rear of the McCormac machine, tore it to pieces.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormac had to spend the night at Encinitas, returning here next day.

Supervisors Plan Probe On Incomes

County officials and employees shortly will be asked to "tell all" about their incomes from their jobs.

Plan Questionnaires The committee of county supervisors, N. E. West and John Mitchell, who were entrusted with the task of preparing recommendations for salary increases and equalization, will send out questionnaires within several days to everybody on the county payroll, it is understood.

These questionnaires will demand to know how much the official or employee receives as income. Whether this will be confined to the job, or the question will pry into income from sources apart from the official job, is not known.

To Make Recommendations The supervisors want the information to aid them in making suitable recommendations to the board, which under a new law, has the ruling hand over all county salaries, except in several departments.

The salary of the district attorney and his deputies, of the county auditor, the supervisor court judges and the supervisors themselves are fixed by state legislature, by means of a county government act. The other departments formerly were handled that way, but now come under the jurisdiction of the supervisors.

Seek Data on Fees The probe of income, it appears from remarks attributed to Supervisor Mitchell, will be directed particularly at two county offices compensated fully or partially by the fee system. These are the sheriff and public administrator. The sheriff is paid a salary of $3400, and also receives fees for serving papers, and an allowance for serving meals to jail prisoners. The public administrator is paid entirely with fees from estates he administers. The office is combined with that of coroner, which pays $10 per inquest.

These are popularly supposed to be two of the most lucrative offices in the county, and the supervisors apparently want to know just how much they do pay.

Salary Minor Item What they can do about it is another question. The public administrator, at least, has no salary to cut off, and it would require state legislation to change the fee system in either office, it is pointed out.

SEWER COST OUTLINED IN NEW REPORT

If Santa Ana should separate from the Joint Outfall Sewer district, or if other members of the district should withdraw, leaving Santa Ana to carry on her own sewer improvement program, a treatment plant would cost $104,710 and the reconstructed sewer line, $192,400, according to Clyde C. Kennedy, San Francisco consulting engineer, who filed his survey report with city council today.

Costs Estimated If the Joint Outfall Sewer district chooses to remain as a unit, with all members remaining in the "fold"—and Kennedy recommends that as a matter of economy—the plant would cost $196,130 and the reconstructed sewer line (23,500 feet, reinforced concrete pipe, to connect with the ocean section, at the beach), $265,300.

Protection of the ocean outfall line on each side with installation of 20,000 cubic yards of rock, piled 12 feet high, will cost $75,000, Kennedy estimated.

Filed With Clerk Kennedy's report, with recommendations, copy of which was filed with City Clerk Ed Vegely, contains 29 typewritten pages of facts, figures and recommendations, and six maps and diagrams of the three recommended projects.

While a Santa Ana project alone would call for 32-inch pipe, the joint project would provide for 48-inch pipe under Kennedy's recommendations. Engineering costs are included in the total cost figures, given by Kennedy as estimates.

The study made by Kennedy included items as follows: Reconstruction of land section between screening plant and beach line; changes or protection works which

PROSECUTOR IS DISQUALIFIED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(UP)—The San Francisco county grand jury today disqualified District Attorney Matthew Brady as prosecutor of police graft cases.

The grand jury voted to take investigation powers out of Brady's hands and ask Attorney General U. S. Webb to appoint a special prosecutor instead.

The jurors said they took this action on Brady's own request. Brady was questioned by the county grand jury regarding his personal finances as the city's graft scandal developed into a public investigation of relations between high municipal officials and McDonough Brothers, bail bond firm, alleged "fountainhead of corruption."

Brady charged that McDonough was responsible for an untrue story that he held Brady's note for $100.

Before being closeted with the grand jury, Brady wrote Attorney General U. S. Webb, requesting the attorney general to appoint someone to attend all conferences, become familiar with the evidence, and take part in all proceedings.

GROUPS TO AID FLOOD PROJECT

With a citizen's advisory committee named today to work with the school fact-finding committee on plans for a new Santa Ana Junior college project, it was learned that the joint committee will first bend its efforts to aiding the county flood control project, then turn attention to the junior college plans.

Chairman George Wells of the Santa Ana board of education stated that a meeting of the fact-finding committee will be called shortly to organize and discuss preliminary plans. Wells emphasized that the committee wishes to aid rather than interfere with prospects of the county flood control project, and will defer actual work on the junior college plans, other than assembling data, until the water project is settled.

Four prominent Santa Ana business men were named on the citizen's advisory committee yesterday by R. B. Newcom, president of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club. This committee includes A. N. Zerman, Alex. Brownridge, George Dunton and Councilman Plummer Bruns.

Members of the school committee are Chairman Wells, Dr. Margaret Baker, board member; Superintendent Frank Henderson and Director D. K. Hammond of the junior college.

GUARD PROVIDED L. A. CHIROPRACTOR

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—(UP)—A guard today was provided Dr. A. M. Foote, appointed intermediary by the extortionists who demanded $20,000 from Anna May Wong, Chinese film star, and David O. Selznick, producer.

Dr. Foote, elderly chiropractor and innocent third party in the extortionist's scheme, received threatening telephone calls, he told District Attorney Fitts.

"The writer may be trying to contact Dr. Foote, or he may be angry because Dr. Foote did not carry out his orders," said Fitts. "We have placed a guard over Dr. Foote's home."

Mrs. Lydia Swenson, wife of a retired Duluth, Minn., lumberman, was arraigned yesterday charged with mailing Almeda Semple McPherson one of the threat notes in the crop of sprouting from the mails recently.

Corn Price Given Boost In Chicago

CHICAGO, March 27.—(UP)—Traders turned to the domestic corn market today on the Chicago Board of Trade and bid the price of May corn up the full 4 cent, it allowed in one day's trading.

May old crop corn was $1.15 at the full advance.

F. D. R. HOLDS CONFERENCE ON PROBLEM

BULLETIN DETROIT, March 27.—(UP)—Maurice Sugar, counsel for the United Automobile Workers of America, announced today he had asked the Wayne county circuit court for a mandatory injunction to require Chrysler corporation to recognize the A.U.W.A. as "sole and exclusive bargaining agency" for Chrysler's 60,000 employees.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins today expressed confidence after a White House conference today that the dispute between Chrysler Motor corporation, and its employees would be settled over the week end—"possibly within a few hours."

Expresses Gratitude Miss Perkins expressed her gratitude for the work Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan has done in the Chrysler strike and added:

"It is quite clear that the crisis is over in that area. We are all thankful that the community has gone through this without anything happening, such as people being killed, which we can't forget."

Not Apprehensive Miss Perkins said that she was not apprehensive about the possibilities of trouble in Ford Motor company plants.

"There is nothing in the Ford picture at the present on which we can put our finger," she said. "Of course, we can't tell what will happen but I hope it will not be a repetition of the Chrysler trouble in any event."

It was expected that the president would canvass the sit down strike problem further with congressional leaders with whom he had scheduled appointments later today.

Regarding sitdown strikes, Miss Perkins said:

"If the strikes are in violation of the law, the courts have clearly indicated that these violations are of the law of trespass which is very much a local matter," Miss Perkins said.

Possible Approach Studied "It isn't a thing which the federal government can step into without very much thought. One possible approach which is being studied is to see whether the strikes are an impediment to the orderly and successful relations of an employer and workers."

Miss Perkins pointed out that

JAPAN REFUSES TO LIMIT GUNS

TOKYO, March 27.—(UP)—Japan has formally notified Great Britain that she will not accept a proposal to limit naval guns to 14 inch calibre, the foreign office announced today.

Foreign Minister Naotake Satoh made the notification to Sir Robert Clive, retiring British ambassador.

Japan's action releases Great Britain, the United States, France and signatory British dominions from a conditional agreement to limit guns to 14 inches.

As the result, the United States is expected to mount 16 inch guns in the new battleships it is laying down. However, Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, has announced in the house of commons that members of United States and Japanese action, Great Britain's new battleships will have 14 inch guns.

It has been reported that the British admiralty has developed a 14 inch gun of remarkable efficiency—so great, in fact, that Britain is able to contemplate without anxiety the prospect of heavier guns in battleships of other navies.

BRADDOCK SERVED WITH COURT ORDER

NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, announced today that Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock had been served with a court order ordering him to show cause why he should not be enjoined from meeting Joe Louis in Chicago.

should be provided for the ocean section beyond the beach line, and construction of a new treatment plant.

Three Units Prepared
In my program as suggested, the outfall line would be reconstructed as a first unit; the sewage treatment plant as second unit, and the protective work on the ocean outfall as third unit," Kennedy said. "Conclusions reached and recommendations incorporated in this report are predicated on carrying out the construction of the treatment plant and outfall line as a complete project. The sanitary requirements and physical condition are such that any other procedure would prove inadequate and unsatisfactory. If the procedure is carried out as recommended, any future construction expenditures would be only those required to provide additional treatment facilities to meet the needs of population growth, after the 20 per cent increase provided for in the recommended installation shall have been exceeded."

Officials Interviewed
On January 8, Kennedy said he interviewed E. A. Reinke, senior sanitary engineer of the state health department and was informed that recommendation of the health authorities that a treatment plant be constructed by the joint outfall district had been given May 26, 1936. In an interview February 25, with C. G. Gillespie, chief, bureau of sanitary engineering, state department of health, Kennedy was informed that the existing sewage pumping plant at the beach had been the source of very serious nuisance, and that it would be foolish to try to reconstruct it.

Says Kennedy, regarding sewage flow: "Continuous flow measurements have been made for a number of years on both the Santa Ana line and the Anaheim line. The flow of 1929, which is the first for which complete records are available, represented a peak which was not exceeded in the Santa Ana line until 1935. In that year, the total flow in the joint outfall line was below the 1929 peak due to decrease in the flow in the Anaheim line. In 1936, the flow in the Santa Ana line was 711,565,000 gallons, increase of 47,084,000 gallons over the earlier peak. The flow in the Anaheim line in 1936, was 1,152,987,000 gallons, or 400 million gallons under the 1929 peak. The records are of little value, therefore, in establishing any trend for the future."

Flow Records Studied
"For the design of treatment units and for determining pipe line capacities, the record of the rate of flow during the different periods of the day, together with the record of the maximum flow to be cared for is of the greatest importance. A study was made of the records, to arrive at reasonable assumptions for the rates which will control the design. The records of flow rate in million gallons daily for the two lines and the probable combined flow are set forth below:
"Minimum rate, average maximum rate (eight hours in day), Santa Ana, 1.35; Anaheim, 1.55; combined, 2.70—average daily rate, dry weather, Santa Ana, 2.75; Anaheim, 4.90; combined, 7.65—maximum rate (observed February 6, 1937), Santa Ana, 9.35; Anaheim, 10.75; combined, 20.10.
"As indicated above, the rate of flow for the period of the day in which the maximum organic load is carried, is nearly seven and three-fourth million gallons per day. This rate determines to a great degree, the treatment unit sizes."

Water For Irrigation
"Treatment of the sewage of the character and to the degree necessary to meet requirements of the state board of health would be the first step in any treatment for reclamation of water for re-use. I have therefore, kept in mind also that the reclamation of water for irrigation use during the summer season is a possibility and have provided an arrangement of the plant units which would make it possible to carry the flow through an additional treatment stage without any modifications of the plant units provided for present requirements."

The principal element to consider in providing for future treatment is the elevation of the water surface in the primary sedimentation tanks. Construction of additional units for water reclamation may be directly chargeable to the water project. It is advisable to combine all treatment and pumping units at the upper end of the outfall."

Kennedy pointed out that a saving could be effected by salvaging screening units of the present plant for use in the proposed one.

Of the reconstruction line job, Kennedy said the present line, damaged by the 1933 earthquake, is "an almost complete structural failure."

Kennedy was advised by W. W. Hoy, engineer for the Talbert Drainage district, that the district plans to abandon existing ditch and constructing another along the westerly side of the outfall sewer right-of-way. "Such action will eliminate the only objection to the proposed location of the outfall line," said Kennedy.

"The protection of the ocean section of the outfall against recurrence of the accidental breaks which have been so costly, has been subject of investigation as part of this study," he continued. "This section is particularly vulnerable to damage from any floating object carried alongshore over the pipe line."

In the original agreement between Santa Ana and Anaheim, it was provided that Santa Ana should have the right to construct its own outfall sewer line facilities on the easterly half of the right-of-way to the ocean. Kennedy pointed out in his report regarding possibility of Santa Ana adopting a lone-handed policy.

"In filing this report, I want to express my appreciation of the courtesy shown to me and the assistance by Mr. Joseph P. Smith, commissioner of water and sewers, Mr. J. L. McBride, city engineer, and the members of the city engineer's staff," Kennedy stated.

Thousands Ready For Egg Contest
WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Mrs. Roosevelt today prepared the White House for the most popular, most spectacular, and most harum scarum party of the year—the annual Easter egg-rolling. Thousands of Washington children busied themselves preparing for the big day of the year—the day after Easter—the day when they all dress up in their gayest clothes and tramp up the White House lawn.

The only Washington people unhappy at the prospect are the gardeners and caretakers who must start late Monday afternoon to clear tons of cracked egg shells, debris and paper from the grounds of the executive mansion.

The president who has introduced many informalities into the White House routine, has never dared relax the strict rule governing admission to his Easter party—"No children, no admission."

Inquiry On Plane Crash Held Monday
PITTSBURGH, March 27.—(UP)—Four corps of investigators—federal, state, county and company—concentrated today on the meager evidence in which they sought an explanation of the crash of a Transcontinental & Western Air transport on a hillside Thursday night.

Their work was preliminary to a main inquiry which the federal bureau of air commerce announced would begin with public hearings here probably Monday.
TWA officials decided that the crash in which 13 persons died was caused by ice forming on the plane's ailerons, hinged panels slotted on the rear edge of the wings. They said that with these stabilizers sheathed in ice, the plane literally was "frozen" into a vertical bank from which Pilot Lawrence Bohner was unable to wrest it.

Railway Workers Take Strike Vote
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(UP)—Eight thousand Pacific division employees of the Southern Pacific railway were reported today to be taking strike vote to enforce demands for wages asserted due under previous awards, rights of representation and prompt handling of labor complaints.

The strike, if called, would affect operations from San Francisco to Portland, Ore.; to Ogden, Utah, and to El Paso, Tex.
J. H. Dyer, vice president of the Southern Pacific, in charge of operations in the division, in a formal statement, said that there was no reason for a strike vote and no dispute between the railroad brotherhood and the railway.

1 Killed, 8 Hurt In Train Collision
CLAYTON, N. M., March 27.—(UP)—The engineer of a north-bound Colorado and Southern passenger train was fatally injured and eight others were injured in a head-on collision with a south-bound, C. & S. freight at 10:52 last night.

Dan Horan, engineer of the passenger train, was trapped in the wrecked cab of his engine and was not freed until 2 a. m. today when workmen were successful in cutting through the debris with acetylene torches. He died enroute to the Clayton hospital.

Six passengers injured in the wreck were also taken to the hospital, but attacks said none was seriously hurt.

Horan's fireman, C. Greenwade, and the engine crew of the freight, C. W. Cary, engineer, and J. Butz, fireman, also were injured.

THREATENED BREAK HEADING DIRECTLY FOR SHOWDOWN AS TYPEWRITER ISSUES FLARE

By GEORGE HART

The fine, large fracas that has been shaping up between county department heads and the board of supervisors over the new committee form of government appeared today to be heading straight for a showdown. As expected, it's typewriters again.

County Auditor W. T. Lambert today had his back bowed in a stiff round arc, and his hackles were distinctly up. He had presented to the county purchasing department a requisition for a certain make of typewriter. The purchasing department, which is under the wing of Supervisor N. E. West, was understood to have refused to purchase that "make."

"Pat" Henry Stance
Auditor Lambert took a Patrick Henry stance and remarked, "Give me a Smith or give me—I mean, or I'll give you..."
Accordingly, it looked like the issue was up for decision—whether one member of the board of supervisors can run a department; also whether the entire board of supervisors can tell an elective official what kind of supplies he shall purchase.

District Attorney W. F. Menton, as previously reported, has ruled that one committeeman cannot dictate any department policy, and that elective officials are their own bosses, so long as they execute legally.

Legal Lambert Lancing
He also has ruled that elective officials shall file their requisitions through the purchasing department, but in the event of refusal to grant the requisition, the official can make his purchase directly from the dealer, Menton thinks.

Lambert, it is expected, will take that course if the purchasing department persists in its refusal to supply the typewriter ordered. The typewriter shindy, as indicated before, revolves about Supervisor West's opposition to the Tiersman Typewriter company, which handles the make of machine ordered by Lambert. At previous board discussion of the matter, West has made no secret of his objections, holding that Tiersman has a monopoly on the courthouse business.

"There's a Reason"
The retort has been that a representative of a rival typewriter company has been one of West's political supporters. Department heads have further asserted that their orders have gone to Tiersman simply because nobody else in the county sells the make of typewriter they want; also that any well-ordered business office maintains one make of machine in the office, for efficiency.

If the purchasing department can get that make of machine from anybody else, that's okay with the department heads. They are not specifying Smith typewriters, they emphasize. And since the price of all typewriters are the same, the purchasing department does not have the argument of economy, they point out.

Auditor Lambert, who freely concedes that he not only is friendly to the Tiersman machine, but also to the Tiersman manager, Bob Fernandez, remarks succinctly: "As far as that goes, if it is merely a matter of buying from your friends, why should I buy from Mr. West's friends instead of my own."

If Lambert is forced to make his typewriter purchase direct from the dealer, it would then be up to the purchasing department to approve or reject the bill for the machine. If the bill is rejected, then it would be up to the dealer to file suit against the county on its claim. That would doubtless bring about a court decision that should settle the whole argument.

3RD DISTRICT IS REJOICING TODAY
At last there is rejoicing in the third supervisorial district; a resident of that district has landed a job on the county payroll.

He is Archie Henry of Anaheim, who is temporarily taking a training course in the welfare department to learn the tricks of the mortgage trade; but it is understood that he is destined to land permanently at the county hospital, to take charge of the mortgage business there.

"Assets Before Appendix"
It seems that there is need at the hospital of more attention to whether patients there really can pay their way. That brings Henry to the job, as a sort of special surgeon.

He will remove the patients' assets before the doctor removes their appendix. Maybe he'll need a private operating room.

His appointment brings some relief to the third district. It seems that the new supervisor there, Harry D. Riley, has been getting reproachful looks from his supporters. When Supervisor Riley took office, apparently he had some fool idea about being there to give public service. He had taken seriously all that campaign talk about courthouse house-cleaning, without knowing it was merely trimming for the campaign showcase. He didn't understand that some people merely want to clean house so they can move their own furniture in.

So when the patronage was passed around, Harry didn't think about shoving "arms into the public trough. And other supervisors, with a longer reach, passed out the jobs.

"Sure," Harry told the applicants, "I'll give you the job if you're the best man for it." That was strange talk, and it left the third district frantic. But now, perhaps, the world will be brighter. One of them has a job, anyway.

If You Like Fish Stories, Here's How!

This is really a fish story! It is the tale of seven Tustin Sea Scouts and their Skipper who were fishing, never caught a fish but returned this week with more than 500 pounds of fish.

Members of the party leaving Newport for a one day fishing trip were: Skipper Harold Case; Second Mate Charles Scott, Yeoman Bob Young and Seamen Wesley Fisher, William Robinson, Millard Foster and Bob Arnold.

The party cruised along the coast from Newport Beach to Laguna Beach without catching even a small sardine. In the afternoon, their luck changed.

First a commercial fisherman gave them a large haddock and a sea bass. After leaving the commercial fisherman, the group cruised north to Newport where they filled with sardines.

Foster and Arnold took a dory and rowed out to the purse seiners' boat, the Volca Boatman, to gather up some of the smaller fish to be used as bait. They were invited aboard the boat and, after watching the crew struggling with their nets, offered to lend a hand. After the catch had been landed the fishermen almost swamped the dory when they loaded it with 503 pounds of the large caridines.

any federal program would hinge largely on the decision of the supreme court on the constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations act, which the court is expected to hand down soon. She emphasized that the Wagner act had not been brought into use in the automobile strikes because of a federal court injunction prohibiting the labor board from acting in that area.

LANSING, Mich., March 27.—(UP)—Optimistic assurances of Gov. Frank Murphy coupled with the desire of John L. Lewis and Walter P. Chrysler to leave Lansing, gave rise today to the possibility of speedy settlement of the Chrysler automobile strike.

Lewis, chairman of the Committee For Industrial Organization, and Chrysler, head of the strike, resumed their conference at 10 a. m.

Murphy, emerging from the conference room at the conclusion of the night session, announced: "Not a great deal separates them."

HOLD TAX AUDITOR ON MURDER CHARGE
ALTURAS, Cal., March 27.—(UP)—Harry French, 30, state sales tax auditor, was held in jail without bail today, charged with murder in the slaying of Claude L. McCracken, editor of a daily mimeograph publication here.

The complaint naming French, the son of the editor of a rival weekly newspaper, was signed by District Attorney A. K. Wylie, who set the preliminary hearing for March 30.

Simultaneous with the signing of the complaint against French, a coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that McCracken "came to his death as the result of gunshot fired by Harry French."

GENERAL ELECTRIC WAGES INCREASED
SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 27.—(UP)—President Gerard Swope of the General Electric company announced last night a wage increase for "employees on a selective basis," adding $7,000,000 to the company's annual payroll.

Both salaried employees and day and piece rate workers are included in wage adjustments made under the company's policy of paying its workers "above average" rates.

Swope explained that the company was welcoming "discussions with interested employees on the basis of wages paid," he said.

HEARTS AND FLOWERS?
In the Spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, but yesterday thoughts of several young men turned to thoughts of Easter flowers. Mrs. M. Hamaker, 309 South Sycamore, told city police the boys were uprooting flowers growing at 305 South Sycamore. Police are making a check up in an effort to save the flowers.

M'CORMAC WILL DIRECT VESPERS SUNDAY NIGHT

Among the important Easter musical events in local churches will be the Easter Vespers presented by the First M. E. church choir and the Cecilia Singers, under the direction of Halstead McCormac, in the First church 5:30 p. m.

Each year an increasing number of Orange county music lovers attend these Vespers, which are given at Easter and Christmas Sundays, and which have made the First M. E. church a center of good choral music. Renditions of a Bach cantata and Handel's Messiah in recent months were examples of the excellent standard set by the two groups.

Choruses Participate
This Easter's program will be built around several fine choruses to be sung by the combined groups, including the seldom-performed Beethoven Hallelujah Chorus from "The Mount of Olives." Joseph Colkey's popular Easter composition, "Hymn Exultant," which was given its first rendition last year at the Vespers, will again be sung.

It is a stirring setting of a James Whitcomb Riley poem and contains a lovely incidental contralto solo. In addition, an antiphonal work will be performed with a solo quartet consisting of Elizabeth Morgan, Laura Joiner, Gustav Koehler and Donald Krueger in the balcony; this is "An Easter Antiphon" by the modern church composer, T. Frederick H. Candlyn.

Many Soloists
Lenore Tompkins will lead the choir of the Junior church in two numbers, "Alleluia, Hearts and Voices" by Bixby, and a Mendelssohn Ave Maria. This group of children has performed regularly in the Junior church at the First M. E. church for the past year.

Among the many of Santa Ana's leading vocal soloists who will cooperate in this Easter Vespers are Elizabeth Morgan, Irma Rutter, and Dorothy Nowlin, sopranos; Laura Joiner and LaVerne Van Wyk, contraltos; Marjorie Hare and Gustav Koehler, tenors; Donald Krueger and H. P. Kenny, basses. They will combine in ensemble performances of several eight-part choral works, including arrangements by Harvey Gaul of an ancient German ascension lied and a Czechoslovakian Easter carol.

Interpretative Reading
In this year's Vespers the congregation will be given a greater opportunity to participate in the music than in previous years. Several well-known hymns will be included in the program. Arthur Casey, popular local dramatist, will present an interpretative reading as a special feature. During the past several weeks he has appeared regularly on the Sunday vesper services of the church and has attracted an appreciative audience.

Christine Lambert, organist at First M. E. church, will be at the console of the Murray Harris organ, and Esther Vogt, accompanist of Cedilian Singers, will furnish piano accompaniment.

The morning program is intriguing. Dr. George Warner will preach on the theme "The Victorious Christ" or "The Homing Instinct." There will be a special Easter anthem by the choir and a solo by Mrs. Irma Rutter.

At 10:40 there will be a baptism of babies, children and adults, and reception of members. The choir of the Junior church will provide music for this lovely hour. Miss Lenore Tompkins directs this hour. To complete the day the Young People's groups will meet at 6:30.

Musical Vespers Service Will Be Conducted Sunday
A program of anthems, poems, solos and organ numbers which will comprise the Musical Vespers service in the First Presbyterian church at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow, was announced today.

Whitford L. Hall will direct the program, which will include the following numbers:
Preludes: "Serenade" (Gounod); "All for the G String" (Bach); Anna May Archer, cellist, and Pauline Graaf Rhoades, organist.
Hymn No. 163; prayer of invocation, "The Call to Praise God" (Psalm 150); anthem: "Sanctus" (Gounod), Marion Graaf, soprano.
A Guard of The Sepulcher (Matthew 27:57-66 and Edwin Markham).

Anthem: "In Joseph's Lovely Garden" (Dickinson); Easter chorale (Matthew 28:1-9 and Gothe).
Poem: "The Lamb" (Blake); anthem: "All in the April Evening" (Robertson); solo: "Gloria" (Buzzi-Peccia), by Marion Graaf, soprano; poem: "Our Master" (Whittier); anthem: "O Lord Most Holy" (Franck), junior and junior high choirs and Anna May Archer, cellist.

Offertory: "Cantilena" (Goltermann), Anna May Archer and Pauline Graaf Rhoades.
Victory: "Selected Scriptures"; anthem: "Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel).

STORE ENTERED

LOCAL PILOTS GET RIDE WITH EXPERT IN SPEEDY AIRPLANE

One of the fastest airplanes in private service was in Santa Ana yesterday and stopped at the Eddie Martin airport. When it left, four well-known Santa Ana fliers were aboard for a trip to Los Angeles. The plane, a Lockheed-Electra, is owned by P. K. Haliburton, owner of the Haliburton Oil Well Cementing company of Duncan, Okla., and operator of one of the richest gold mines in Honduras, Central America. William Hottle, formerly a pilot at the M. T. airport is Haliburton's pilot.

Haliburton uses the airplane, which was delivered approximately two weeks ago, to commute between his home in Duncan, Okla., and his office in Los Angeles. On delivery of the airplane Honduras. After transacting business at the mine the pair flew to Guatemala where they remained over night. Leaving the airport in that Central American city at 6:30 a. m. the plane was landed in Duncan, Okla., more than 2500 miles away, at 5:30 p. m., the same day.

The Lockheed has a cruising speed of 220 miles an hour and is a sister ship to the one flown by Amelia Earhart.

Yesterday morning Haliburton and Hottle left Fort Worth, Tex., after a 6:30 a. m. breakfast and flew direct to Los Angeles. Haliburton left the plane at the airport in that city and Hottle flew to Santa Ana arriving in time to eat lunch at 2:30 p. m. at the airport in Santa Ana. Hottle was accompanied later to Los Angeles by Robert Jeffrey, S. H. (Buddy) Adkins, Floyd Martin and Dale Decker.

IT'S SMALL WORLD, CHICKEN THIEF, JUDGE ALLEN DECIDE

It's a small world, after all, Superior Judge James L. Allen and Joe McElmurry, admitted chicken thief, discovered yesterday in the judge's court.

"I used to work as messenger boy for the McCausland Oil Company in Tulsa, Oklahoma," said the chicken thief, in response to the judge's question regarding antecedents.

"Well, well," observed his honor, "were you at the up-town office or the plant?"

"Wanted to Be 'Honest'"
McElmurry stared, "At the plant" he answered.

"You see," said the judge, "I used to work for the McCausland people in Tulsa, too. I was their attorney."

"How'd you come to steal these chickens, Joe," the judge wanted to know.

"Honest," said McElmurry, "I don't know whether it was these chickens I stole, I don't think it was. I done all my stealing in Los Angeles county, I think."

"If you don't remember stealing these 20 chickens from W. H. Morgan's place out there near Anaheim last Saturday night."

"I didn't steal any chickens Saturday night."

"When was it, then?"

Shows Score
"I stole some Friday night. But that was nine hens and a rooster. And it was 20 miles off."

"Well, when did you steal some before that?"

"Oh, several nights before."

"How many?"

"I wouldn't know, judge."

"Two or three."

Joe was insulted. "Aw, judge," he said scornfully, "Me better with two or three. Probably it was sixty."

"How do you get them out of the roost without their squawking?" the judge asked, showing professional interest.

Joe grinned. "Looks to me like one of 'em did squawk," he remarked.

After a few more reminiscences between the two former oil company employees, whose trail separated at Tulsa, one to lead to San Quentin and Folsom, the other to a superior court bench, court was adjourned, and the hearing postponed one week.

Either the judge couldn't bear to sentence his former associate, or wanted to discover which county has jurisdiction over the case.

more men to fight for the Spanish rebels, and had indicated readiness shortly to discuss withdrawal of foreign troops now in service for the insurgents here.

COUNTER OFFENSIVE OF REBEL FORCES COLLAPSES

ANDAJAR, Spain, March 27.—(UP)—The rebel counter offensive on the Pozoblanco front in south central Spain collapsed today, loyalists reported, and the insurgents with 10,000 Italian reinforcements were driven back to their old positions with heavy casualties.

The loyalist forces continue to hold all the territory captured in the last two days of intensive fighting in and around northern Cordoba province some 100 miles southwest of Madrid.

The fleeing rebels were harried by loyalist warplanes, sweeping low and machine gunning the retreating troops.

Advices from the front said most of the enemy force in rout were Italians, defeated on a "second Guadalajara."

A. F. OF L. LEADER HITS C. I. O. GROUP

GULFPORT, Miss., March 27.—(UP)—A threat by Holt Ross, southern district representative of the American Federation of Labor, to expel Committee For Industrial Organization unions, was viewed today as a major blast in a nationwide federation attack on John L. Lewis' organization.

Speaking to labor leaders here last night, Ross, self-assured spokesman for President William Green of the A. F. of L., charged that "about 50" workers in the C. I. O.'s $1,000,000 southern organization campaign are "apostates of communism" who have "been sent into the south to instill the principles of Moscow."

Ross warned that if Lewis' C. I. O. union "continue to defy" the A. F. of L., the parent organization would be forced to expel them.

EXCLUSIVE BEACH SECTION WILL BE OPENED APRIL 15

Opening of what will be developed into one of the most beautiful beach residential sections in Orange county was announced today by Clarence H. Lind, exclusive owner of the Irvine company.

Located on Newport Harbor, west of the state highway bridge and extending south to the bay front opposite Kaiser's Bay Shore camp, the tract is to be known as Bay Shores and will offer a remarkable combination of advantages to those desiring to construct beautiful summer or year-round homes, Lind said.

The tract will include 225 lots averaging 40 by 100 feet in size. The first unit, including 71 choice lots will be opened to the public about April 15. Preparations are being made at present for the immediate construction of new streets and curbs and installation of water, lights, gas, telephones and other conveniences.

In announcing opening of the tract Lind said the project is expected to inaugurate one of the greatest building and expansion programs in the history of the community, and leads the way for the development of the entire bay and ocean frontage from Newport Beach to Laguna Beach as the most exclusive playground in the west.

Bay Shores will combine the advantages of practically every exclusive residential district on the Pacific Coast and will furnish the ideal location for the yachtsman, fisherman, swimming enthusiast and lover of aquatic sports.

Inspiring Panorama
An outstanding feature of the new subdivision is the unobstructed view of the entire harbor community. Included in this inspiring panorama is a view of Collins Island, Balboa Island, Lido Isle, the Peninsula, Bay Island, Balboa and Newport.

Opening of the exclusive residential section climaxes a preparatory engineering program conducted by the Irvine Company over a period of several years at an estimated cost of $150,000.

Trucks to pick up donations may be summoned by telephoning Mrs. West, 1322, Mrs. Emison, 2210, or Mrs. Tubbs, 4271.

The rummage sale is the first of a series of special events to be sponsored during the year by the Assistance League of Santa Ana to defray cost of endowing the bed in St. Joseph's hospital, as monthly dues paid by members are not sufficient to cover the expense.

Special Easter Services Ready

Sunday evening services at Church of the Brethren, Ross and Camille streets will feature an Easter program, "Makers of the Cross" to be given by the choir at 7:30 o'clock in the church auditorium. It was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Herman B. Landis.

Mrs. Gorman Rensberger will be reader on the program. Choir numbers will include "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Crown Him with Many Crowns." There will be duets, "Have you Heard of Him" by Mabel Snow and Mrs. Jay Myers; "None Shall Seek for Thee in Vain," Mabel Snow and Odelle Jordan; "On Calvary's Hill," Jean Jordan and Mary Ellen Anderson.

CITRUS INCOMES WILL FLUCTUATE

Orange county citrus growers with more than 60 per cent of their crop rated as marketable after the recent freeze, will receive a cash return this year approximating their return for 1936, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

The price forecast was made by Wahlberg following announcements in Washington, D. C., in which the Agricultural Economics Bureau predicted a price increase.

The price increase was based on the crop loss suffered during the freeze which, according to bureau estimates, reduced the total winter and spring crop to 35,000,000 boxes for this state.

Will Be An Average
Wahlberg said the price per box will be considerably higher to the grower with marketable fruit but the decreased supply will, in spite of higher prices, keep the total cash return in the county on an average with that of last year.

The grower, however, who lost 75 per cent of his fruit will find his income considerably decreased, Wahlberg said. The grower whose fruit is 60 per cent marketable will find that the increased cash return will place his income on a par with his income for 1936.

Improvement in the price of grapefruit was also forecast by the bureau.

With the smallest crop since 1924, lemon prices already are relatively higher with further seasonal advances predicted.

CALLING all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

MORE AND MORE NEW BREEDS

For many years I knew at a glance the breed of every pure-bred dog I saw at a show or on the street. Now, at shows, I find myself staring in dull wonder at breed after breed I never heard of and whose specimens are unfamiliar to me. The American Kennel club is accepting more and more new varieties of dogs for inclusion among the "recognized breeds."

I am old enough to remember when I saw my first Alsatian and first Boston terrier and first Doberman pinscher and first Norwegian elkhound on the benches of A. K. C. shows. Yet now all these are long established and are known to everybody. And along have come a new throng of pure-breeds. I am going to glance over a recent issue of the A. K. C. monthly Stud Book Register, and jot down the names of a few of these breeds. How many of them can you identify, especially if you are not a professional breeder or dog show addict?

Affenpinschers, Afghan Hounds, Bolognese, Keeshonders, Lakeland Terriers, Staffordshire Terriers, Welsh Corgis, Bouviers de Flandres, Kuvasz.

Yet one day, some of these may be as familiar to you and to everyone as are now the pointer and collie and bulldog.

CORONATION

At the king's gate the subtle noon Wove filmy yellow nets of sun: Into the drowsy snare too soon The guards fell one by one.

Through the king's gate, unquestioned then, A beggar went, and laughed. "This brings Me chance at last to see if men, Fare better, being kings."

The king sat bowed beneath his crown, Propping his face with listless hand; Watching the hour glass-drifting down Too slow its shining sand.

"Poor man, what would'st thou have of me?" The beggar turned, and pitying, Replied like one in dream, "Of thee Nothing, I want the king."

Up rose the king and from his head Shook off the crown and threw it by. "O man, thou must have known," he said, "A greater king than I."

Through all the gates, unquestioned then, Went king and beggar, hand in hand. Whispered the king, "Shall I know when Before his throne I stand?"

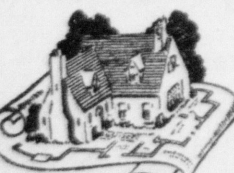

The beggar laughed. Free winds in haste Were wiping from the king's hot brow The crimson lines the crown had traced. "This is His presence now."

At the king's gate the crafty noon Unwove its yellow net of sun: Out of their sleep in terror soon The guards waked, one by one.

"Ho here! Ho there. Has no man seen The king?" The cry ran to and fro; Beggar and king, they laughed I ween, The laugh that free men know.

On the king's gate the moss grew gray; The king came not. They called him dead; And made his eldest son one day Slave in his father's stead. Songs and Stories, Edwin Markham

Time-Saver Idea for the Dieter The rest of the family may think you are a bit barmy when they see you eating fruit cup for breakfast, but don't mind them, families are that way, y' know. Somehow, I hate the job of fixing fresh grapefruit or oranges each morning, so harking back to childhood ideas of economy of time, (when I conceived the idea of saying a week's supply of prayers on dull Sunday afternoons), a jar of fruit cup is made up to last for three days. Into my fruit cup goes pulp and juice of 3 grapefruit a small can of pine apple with juice, 6 medium sized oranges, peeled and sliced, 3 big apples, peeled and diced, two or three canned peach or pear halves, or lacking them, 2 bananas. No sugar is added, but the juice of 2 lemons is added, and the fruit is then chilled. One scant cupful is the allowance for breakfast; try it, you'll like the time-saving element, and the flavor

You try guessing how many calories go into the fruit cup. To help you in your guessing way not send for the Calory List . . . everything used in the fruit cup is in it. A stamped, self-addressed envelope and exchange of a recipe or household hint are what we ask for the calory list.

EAT AND GROW SLIM MENUS

Breakfast Scant cupful of "fruit cup" or Large glass of tomato juice with lemon juice Poached egg on 1 slice toast 1-2 pat butter 1 cup coffee with 1-4 cup hot skimmed milk, no sugar Calory total (fruit cup) 305. Cereal, more toast, jam, and choice of breakfast drinks convert menu into family meal.

Luncheon • Toasted Cheese Sandwich • Apple and Celery Salad, reducer's mayonnaise Pot of clear tea Calory total, 350.

Add nuts to the family salad, making portions larger and sandwiches more numerous.

Dinner

• Squab chicken stuffed with rice and celery, or • Small top sirloin steak, broiled 2 tablespoons new peas

3 small new potatoes 1-2 pat butter for vegetables • Salad: 1-2 cup hot diced beet in French dressing and much chopped parsley Coffee with 1 lump sugar and 1 tablespoon thin cream. Calory total, 350. This is the reducer's Easter Dinner. It is luscious enough for the family dinner, but needs the addition of hot rolls, and a suitable dessert.

The Starred Recipes

Toasted Cheese Sandwich: Cut a square inch of cheese, grate it, place between 2 thin slices of bread spread with reducer's mayonnaise (mineral oil). For the salad, allow half an apple, diced, and 1 celery heart. Squab Chicken: These little fellows weigh about 3-4 pound.

Stuff lightly with cooked rice seasoned with butter and chopped celery. Roast slowly in covered casserole. Sirloin Steak: Portion should measure 3 inches long, 2 inches wide and an inch or less, thick. Beet Salad: Use canned diced beets. Drain and re-heat in a weak French dressing. Add one-third as much chopped parsley, and serve on lettuce. Au revoir until Monday.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, March 27.—Idol chatter: Have you noticed that Charles Boyer's eyes are dead ringers for Rudolph Valentino? The Carbo influence again: George Brent's studio does not have his telephone number and can reach him only through his agent. For the next war, Uncle Sam might build up an army from Mary Brian's rejected (Dear printer: Don't make that word "dejected") suitors. Name that improves in reverse: Nelson Eddy. Nobody can match Bing Crosby's look of utter disinterest in things around him.

Dress William Powell in a uniform and he struts like a still walker. Morgan Hall (nom de film of Phil D'Orsey's husband) sounds more like a New York banker's Fifth Avenue estate. Cary Grant surprises with those outlandishly striped shirts and ties. Scene stealer: Walter Brennan. Something incongruous about Joan Crawford humming "The World Owe Me a Living." Sid Silver's elegant crack: "If he keeps breaking air speed records, Howard Hughes won't be able to say, 'I can't get away from Hollywood fast enough!'"

What a rough-and-tumble if Vic McLaughlin and Barton MacDaine were to match fists! Virginia Bruce's hair looks like an ad for a soft water shampoo. Wonder how far Mary Nolan's pearl-clear beauty might have carried her had she taken a slower train? Critic's comment I never expect to read: "George Raff mugs at full puff, Ben Bernie looks more like a shrewd politician. You will never see such hand-gestulating as when ZaSu Pitts and Jimmy Cagney get together."

Preston Foster's first years in Hollywood were attended by little success. A year at MGM where he had no parts worth mention, was followed by an equally lackadaisical year with Warner Brothers. Then he was signed by RKO. It was at this studio that he was confronted by a writer-friend.

"Don't lose heart, Pres," the friend kidded. "There are still Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, and Universal—three more years on a year-a-studio basis."

"If my agent lives," retorted Foster, "and you keep your damned mouth shut, three more years will be enough."

During the recent cold spell, when California shivered with its chilliest weather since the oldest inhabitant knows when, Shirley Temple was asked how she liked it. "Fine!" she exclaimed cheerfully. "This morning when I tossed a rock in the fishpond, the water was so hard it floated." It was the first time native-born Shirley had ever seen ice except in blocks and cubes.

The letter which Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes sent to Senator Wheeler probably will have considerable effect in serving as an obstacle to the president's Supreme court proposal. And this will be chiefly through its headline value.

It is a great pity that American copy readers are so highly skilled in the art of making a few words tell a complete story. Unfortunately, the story told in a headline may be somewhat misleading, or at the very least insufficient to convey to the reader all the necessary facts.

This is not said in criticism of the copy desks of the country. As a matter of fact, some of the happiest days of my life were spent as a copy reader, but, unfortunately, I wasn't good enough to do any particular harm to the psychology of the nation. Indeed, most of the heads I wrote were so muddled that the reader would say, "What on earth is this all about," and then go on with the story.

Not Giving Away the Plot
There is something to be said for that style of journalism, better known in England than here, in which each news story is topped by a label rather than a headline. You probably know the style—"Murder," "Marine Disaster," "Unfortunate Divorce." Under this system the announcement of the letter from the Chief Justice would merely have been indicated by "C. E. Hughes." And in that case the reader would have gone on to acquaint himself with precisely what the head man of the High Bench had to say.

But before discussing the gist of the letter from the Chief Justice I would like to say a little more about headlines in general. Particularly I have in mind their unfortunate effects in the handling of the problem of crime. I'm not maintaining that the facts of even the most brutal murders should be censored out of the newspapers. Indeed, I think more light will be needed rather than less.

The Flash in the Bulb
But it is a poor sort of illumination which depends upon the

SACRED CANTATA, 'ON THE THIRD DAY,' TO BE ON CHURCH PROGRAM

ORANGE, March 27.—"On the Third Day," a sacred cantata, will be presented at the First Christian church tomorrow night. The production has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.

The story is of a Roman family, greatly concerned over a plague stricken child during the awful hours of the crucifixion. The child is miraculously healed when the mother wraps him in the garments of Christ which the soldier father has brought home from the Cross. She does this to prevent a physician from taking him away to an isolation camp.

The cast is as follows: Gaius, the Roman soldier, Jack Rossier; Rachel, his beautiful Jewish wife, Thelma Dugan-Burns; Marus, friend of Gaius, Charles Caldwell; Sarah, mother of Rachel, Mrs. Walter Kogler; Anna, a maid-servant, Mrs. Harold Long; Christian friends of Sarah, Mrs. Grace Strickland, Mrs. A. R. Koger, Mrs. Dayton Ditchey; Mary Magdalene, Mrs. Ellen Fullerton; the physician, J. D. Hayes; attendants of physician, Rose Harlan, G. S. Shryock.

The cantata will take the entire hour of the evening service and includes ten musical numbers and nine spoken episodes. Costuming is well done and the lighting effects will be arranged by Kenneth Warren.

Two Million Americans ...never saw an Elephant

That's Why the Circus Will Be Back This Year—That's Why the Elephant Will Walk 'Round and 'Round!

The circus will come back this year. "Same old stuff," you say — same stunts, same clowns, same animals, same ballyhoo you saw when you were a kid. Yes, largely true, of course, but since that same old elephant stalked through the streets a year ago, two million new Americans will have arrived in this country — two million more people who have never seen an elephant.

And in that same interval, a million boys will reach the girl-crazy stage and start shaving the fuzz off their chins for the benefit of another million young women suddenly become acutely clothes and cosmetic conscious. Another two million folks will up and get married — start new homes, buy new furniture, new dishes, new linens. Yesterday they "weren't interested," today they are — and tomorrow other people will be.

That's why the same old elephant walks around serenely confident that among every bored group of people who say, "That's just another elephant," some eager voice will shout, "Oh! That's an elephant!"

When you advertise your product, you are not talking to a grandstand, but rather to a parade that is constantly on the move with new faces — new buyers — coming into the picture every day.

WEEKLY OPINIONS

Furnished by Wm. Cavalier & Co., 516 N. Main St., Phone 600 and 602

MOODY'S: March has thus far lived up to its reputation for providing an unsatisfactory stock market. Stock prices lost ground rather easily last week. The very near term business prospects and the longer term recovery outlook continue favorable but it is to be realized that business is working toward the probability of an intermediate set back. A policy of caution with regard to stocks is still advisable.

STANDARD STATISTICS: An appraisal of the factors likely to affect stock prices over the next several months clearly indicates that unrestrained optimism is hardly justified. The action of the market itself reflects the confusion of sentiment currently prevailing. True, there has been no evidence of any concerted selling, but on the other hand, aggressive and broad leadership, such as was witnessed in the earlier stages of the bull market, has not been in evidence for some time. Selected purchases are still warranted in those groups which promise to record better than average earnings expansion in 1937, not only for the favorable appreciation possibilities but also because such issues are likely to prove less vulnerable to intermediate reactions of the market as a whole. For the present, therefore, we repeat our counsel of recent weeks, recognizing the possibility of a substantial reaction resulting from news of an increase in the belief that considerably higher average prices will be witnessed for these stocks before the bull market is completely exhausted.

BABSON'S Indications point to renewed strength in the commodity price level, that is, a further bull market in commodities. This means a growing volume of gross business. A price upswing—assuming that buying power keeps pace—is one of the best salesmen on earth. Advancing prices also promote business profits in that concerns make money through inventory appreciation. One significance of higher commodity prices is their effect upon the stock market. Such influence, while uneven, is a bullish factor for the long pull. Today's commodity price outlook gives one more reason for retaining common stocks. Own them outright. Diversify, 60 per cent of your security capital is a reasonable amount to keep in stocks.

UNITED BUSINESS SERVICE: If stocks are being held on a short swing basis, it would be wise policy we believe to utilize any nearby strong spots to step aside temporarily. Those who are committed to the long pull and are willing to hold through further possible decline need not disturb present holdings.

KEN Murray SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, March 27.—Another expert has just come out with the eight best dressed women in the U. S., but I'll bet Sally Rand (who ain't among 'em) still has the best income. The last I heard of Sally, she was wearing a rubber balloon for a reefer and you could put all her lingerie in a humming bird's nest and have room left over for a couple of dozen eggs.

Some day I think I'll pick up a little publicity for myself and name the twelve best dressed scarecrows. And appoint my assistant, Oswald as their valet. (Oh, yeah?)

Well, out in Hollywood here, they sure do everything to please the customers. The fortune tellers are now telling fortunes with deuces wild and of second story workers are willing to break into bungalows.

And this just occurred to me: Of course he can swallow the ignition key, but what else can a chauffeur do when he declares a sit-down strike?

NEW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

"His suitcase is gone, too!" exclaimed Betty, climbing into the trailer. "I wonder what else is missing?"

Martha joined her in the search, but to their astonishment nothing had been stolen. The washbasin was still damp. Apparently Neal had shaved, then slipped from the trailer. "He must have got out while we were going slow through some of those towns back there," Martha said. She looked at Betty. "I wonder if he's just—just odd, or whether there's something behind all this?"

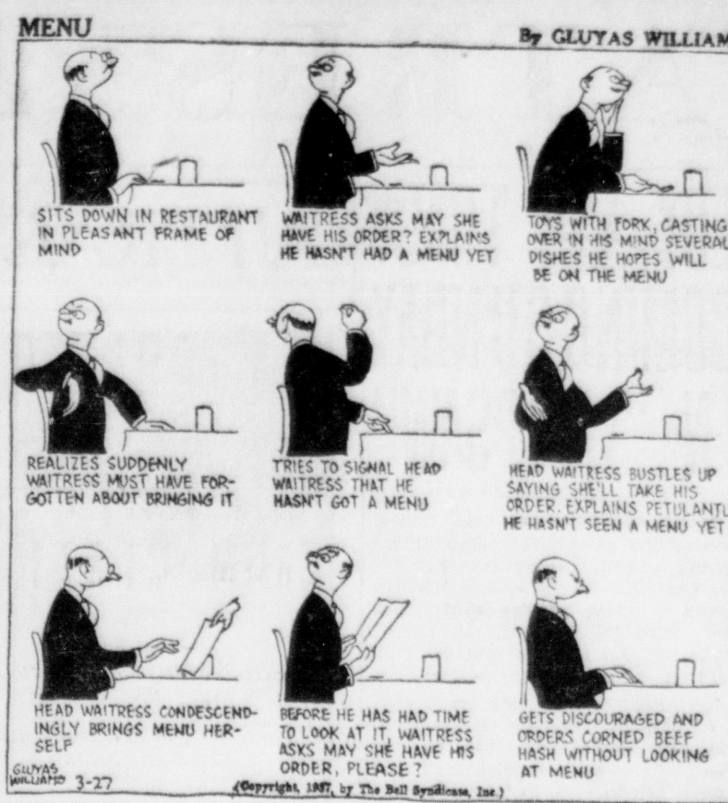

Betty grinned. "I think he's just odd. Or maybe not even odd. Suppose you were a man, and you'd hooked a ride, and had to borrow a washbasin to shave in—all from a couple of girls. Wouldn't you want to take a run-out powder at the earliest opportunity?"

"Perhaps you're right," Martha said. "Want to start the dinner while I hunt up the manager and find out what it'll cost us to park here?"

"Right!" Martha laughed, and started out for the manager's cottage. But that laugh was no indication of her true feelings. Try as she might, she could not write off Gerry Neal's disappearance as lightly as Betty did. Even when she had paid in advance for her parking space, and obtained the manager's permission to display the trailer for advertising purposes, she returned to the Airspeed with Neal still in her mind.

In the falling dusk she found Betty at the door of the trailer talking to a rather scrawny man who might have been anywhere between 30 and 40. At Martha's appearance he turned quickly.

"Martha, this is Mr. Speddon," Betty said. "He's the man Mr. Neal telephoned."

Prying off a screen on the north side of the service station of Charles Goode, 1614 North Glassell street, Orange, entry was made in the station through a window, between 7 and 9 p. m. last night, according to a report at the police station at Orange this morning.

Piling cabinets were pried open and several bank books taken. There was no money in the station. The intruder also carried away the screen removed. Chief of Police George H. Franzen, and G. W. Coltrane, of the Orange police department are conducting an investigation.

MORE "WILD WEST"

"Three Musketeers," owners of a BB-gun, brought the "wild west" back to Santa Ana yesterday, according to Mrs. Oma Arnold, who reported to police they were shooting out the street lights in vicinity of her home, 1301 South Van Ness. The "musketeers" said they would not "go wild west" any more.

WILL ROGERS & LOY AND TRACY CAMILLE COMING SUNDAY TO WALKER'S IN "WHIPSAW"

Starting Sunday for three days, Walker's new theater will present Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor in "Camille" and bring back one of Will Rogers' best loved films, "Ambassador Bill."

"Camille," with Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor as its sensational co-starring team, brings mutual distinction to Hollywood's two most glamorous stars. The story of "Camille" is that of a gorgeous woman who fell in love with a dashing youth when it was far from her original intention. She was a woman of the world, this Marguerite Gautier, intending to marry her charms on the wealthy Baron de Varville, when she met Armand Duval. The story of their love that was stronger than death itself, weaker only than death itself, brings Garbo to the screen in her greatest role and offers Robert Taylor the most powerful part he has yet portrayed.

The notable supporting cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Jessie Ralph, Henry Daniell, Lenore Ulric and Laura Hope Crews, and there is not a performance among the group that does not deserve praise.

The Will Rogers you loved, in his wisest, wittiest role as the homespun diplomat driving stuffed shirts silly with his shirt-sleeve etiquette and his hilarious horse sense, is starred in the return engagement of "Ambassador Bill." Brought back by popular demand, "Ambassador Bill" presents America's own humorist in a role closely resembling that which he played often off stage. Dressed in unfamiliar "soup and fish," as the American Ambassador to an etiquette-ridden mythical European court, Rogers cuts capers that laugh all troubles away.

The featured supporting players are Greta Nissen, Marguerite Churchill, Gustav von Sefferitz and Ray Milland.

RUBY KEELER FILM AT BROADWAY TO END THIS EVENING

Combining romance in the musical manner, whirlwind stepping, a new dance duo and a star who wins new laurels as a singer, the Broadway program that ends tonight is packed to the very last moment with gay and lulling entertainment.

The whirlwind stepping is provided by Ruby Keeler and Lee Dixon in "Ready, Willing and Able." The singing, and most of the romance takes place in the Virginia Bruce-Kent Taylor picture, "When Love Is Young." The story of "Ready, Willing and Able" is that of a young American girl with a gift for dancing, mistaken for an English musical comedy star and persuaded to enter a Broadway show. How the girl manages to bring about a happy conclusion after a series of misadventures, is told through an engaging comedy with splendid dance production numbers and a batch of swingy songs plus the fastest dancing since the last Astaire film.

The Warners have surrounded Miss Keeler with just about every good comedian they have under contract. There's Allen Jenkins, Louise Fazenda, Ross Alexander, Carol Hughes, Wini Shaw, Teddy Hart and the droll Hugh O'Connell.

"When Love Is Young" is the story of a country girl brought to the big city by an enterprising press agent who sees in her the makings of a great singing star. The Virginia Bruce, in a departure

Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, two of the most vital personalities of the screen, appear together for the first time in "Whipsaw," which opens Sunday, at the State theater, with "Fugitive in the Sky," featuring Jean Muir and Warren Hull as the companion feature.

"Whipsaw" presents Miss Loy as a fascinating member of an international ring of jewel thieves, and Tracy as a secret service man who forces her to pose as his wife. The results are adventurous, tragic, romantic and humorous. The picture is hailed as Miss Loy's greatest success since "The Thin Man." The supporting cast, headed by Harvey Stephens, includes William Harrigan, John Qualen, Robert Warwick, Irene Franklin, Lillian Leighton, Wade Boteler and others.

An unusual murder plot is unfolded in "Fugitive in the Sky," second feature on the State theater program for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The victim is a passenger on a speeding airplane and the killing takes place in the presence of a G-Man who is pursuing a woman criminal whom he believes to be on board. The murder is discovered by the air hostess, Jean Muir, at the moment when another gangster, disguised as a woman, whips out guns and orders all passengers to reach for the ceiling.

In the smashing climax a newspaper reporter, played by Warren Hull, proves to be the hero. A romance takes place under the guns of the bandit, with pilot and reporter fighting for the possession of the air hostess.

CHAMPAGNE WALTZ, PLAINSMAN ENDING

"The Plainsman," epic of the western frontier, featuring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur and the gay musical romance "Champagne Waltz," starring Gladys Swarthout and Fred MacMurray will show for the last time tonight at Walker's new theater, Bush at Third. Cooper and Miss Arthur, the couple who made "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" such a success, portray the characters of "Wild Bill" Hickok and Calamity Jane. Cecil B. DeMille's tribute to the men and women that brought civilization to the plains of western America. Cooper is well known for his stellar work as the outdoor man-of-action in previous films and Miss Arthur's work as his sweetheart is superb.

Miss Swarthout, the Metropolitan soprano, is teamed romantically with Fred MacMurray in "Champagne Waltz," a delightful comedy of the battle between the old Viennese waltz and the modern American "swing" music. The comedy of MacMurray and his press agent, Jack Oakie, the truly great singing of Miss Swarthout and the dancing of the internationally famous Veloz and Yolanda, form one of the most entertaining pictures of the season.

United States army pilots are now making model airplanes to be used as targets for the machine gunners of anti-aircraft batteries. The hoax requires all sorts of dash and deception and the able cast headed by this new romantic team makes the picture one of the most hilariously funny films of the new season.

Eric Blore, Fay Bainter, Florence Lake, Estelle Winwood and a host of other notables are featured in "Quality Street."

"Midnight Court," featuring Ann Dvorak, John Littel, Stanley Fields and William Davidson will be a joint feature. A cartoon and news will, as usual, round out the program.

ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Coming Attractions

FOX BROADWAY

Katherine Hepburn, in her greatest role since her first big hit, "Morning Glory" comes to the Broadway screen next week in the J. M. Barrie comedy of early nineteenth century England, "Quality Street."

Miss Hepburn is thoroughly at home as Phoebe Throless in the quaintness and whimsy of the Barrie story and her role as the heroine opposite Franchot Tone will re-establish her as one of Hollywood's most brilliant stars. The excitement of the story begins when Tone comes back from the wars after an absence of some ten years and finds his love converted into an old maid school teacher. Out of her hurt at being found such, she conceives the daring idea of impersonating an imaginary niece, of being a conscienceless flirt, in order to pay her former sweetheart back for his treatment of her on his return.

The hoax requires all sorts of dash and deception and the able cast headed by this new romantic team makes the picture one of the most hilariously funny films of the new season.

madly in love and carry on their romance under fire, with both risking their lives to snatch a few hours together. Against shifting backgrounds the story proceeds to a thrilling climax.

Karen Morley, Henry Stephenson, Jerome Cowan, and David Niven are featured in the supporting cast which also includes Donald Crisp, Ra Hould, sensational new child actor, Jack Mulhall, Pat O'Malley and David Torrance.

Music, laughter and romance combine to make "Sing Me a Love Song" one of the most entertaining musical comedies of the year. The all-star cast is headed by James Melton, the radio star, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Allen Jenkins and Nat Pennington. The story deals with the adventures of a wealthy youth who goes to work in his own department store to find out why the wheels aren't going around. He falls in love with one of his clerks, gets himself and her tangled up in a series of innocent misadventures which land both in jail.

"Maid of Salem," featuring Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray, will be one of the attractions to be shown by Walker's during the following week. "On the Avenue," "God's Country and the Woman," and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," will follow shortly.

FOX WEST COAST

Finland's sensational new sweetheart, handsome Tyrone Power who scored such a noteworthy hit in "Love Is News," and Madeline Carroll, the beautiful blonde star who played opposite Gary Cooper in "The General Died at Dawn," find unforgettable romance in the great screen production "Lloyds of London," which has been booked for an early showing at the West Coast theater. Intrigue, romance and adventure, with the fate of an empire at stake, make up the

STATE

Next Wednesday and Thursday, the State theater will offer Boris Karloff in "The Man Who Lived Again" and "Night Waitress," featuring Margot Grahame.

Boris Karloff delves into the mysteries of the human mind and solves the riddle of eternal youth in "The Man Who Lived Again," supported by Anna Lee, John Lederer, Frank Collier and Lynn Harding. Karloff plays a famous doctor before whom the scientific world bowed until he started talking about transferring the mind from one body to another. He was driven out of Geneva, and in London they laughed and hooped at his experiments and results make the picture a thriller from start to finish.

The companion feature, "Night Waitress," featuring the new romantic team of Margot Grahame, star of "The Informer," and Gordon Jones, former U. S. C. football star, has the glamorous San Francisco waterfront as its background. A brightly charged romance between the two-fisted young ship captain and the night waitress unfolds in the midst of an exciting plot to recover a stolen fortune in gold. A double-cross in the robber gang brings the "mob" and the law into a three-way warfare, with the romancers caught in the middle.

Friday and Saturday, the program will include "Westbound Mail," the feature picture; "Free Rent," a comedy with Monte Collins and Tom Kennedy; "Porky of the North Woods," a Looney Tune cartoon; a newsreel and a chapter of "The Fighting Marines."

"Westbound Mail," starring Charles Starrett and Rosalind Keith, is a stirring adventure tale of the days when the mail-coach and the heroic pioneer mail men were blazing a trail across the west.

A complete show will be presented after 9:30 tonight to accommodate late shoppers.

"MAYTIME" AT WEST COAST IS MOST POPULAR

Hollywood's first spectacular musical picture of the season, Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's "Maytime," delighted capacity audiences at the West Coast theater last night where it opened its local showing with the glamorous Jeanette MacDonald and the handsome Nelson Eddy reunited in the starring roles.

This extravagant adaptation of the successful stage musical is far more beautiful than the original but of course, that is to be expected owing to the greater resources of the screen.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy surpass their starring performances in these brilliant pictures "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie." John Barrymore is excellent as the temperamental and tragic impresario and Lynne Carver, a lovely stranger to the screen appears with Tom Brown to provide the juvenile romance. "Maytime" is a gorgeous spectacle to view and a beautiful theme to hear. Hunt Stromberg and Robert Z. Leonard, who respectively produced and directed "The Great Ziegfeld" last year, occupied the same positions in the production of this new hit.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy rise to their full stature in the realms of stardom, adding to the laurels they won in their earlier films. Together they sing the original stage song "Will You Remember" so effectively that those who hear it will be unlikely to forget it. Miss MacDonald also sings two complete operatic arias and parts of others. Eddy sings three first-rate novelty songs, "Students' Drinking Song," "Vive L'Opera" and "Virginia Ham And Eggs." Together the stars give a touching rendition of the folksong "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

"Maytime" is a brilliant picture. It is an auspicious beginning for the new year's better musicals and sets a pace that even Hollywood will find it difficult to follow.

Added enjoyment is provided by a new Merrie Melodie in color, World News events and a Warner Bros. Featurette "The Romance of Robert Burns" filmed in color.

"Seventh Heaven," one of the greatest plays and silent picture offerings in the history of the theater, has its first showing before a local audience with its new stars and modern treatment tomorrow when it opens at the Broadway theater.

When Twentieth Century-Fox decided to remake "Seventh Heaven," many picture-goers were filled with misgivings. These can now be forgotten, because director Henry King has recaptured, to an amazing degree, the appeal of the film that was a sentimental classic of the silent screen.

The inspirational quality that gave a glow to the love story of Chico and Diane, two simple children of Paris, is also present in this film. Simone Simon, the petite Viennese star who has scored in her every American picture, plays the role that made Janet Gaynor famous a few years ago. James Stewart's conception of Chico is brilliant and easily equals the acting of Charles Farrell who also gained fame through the same role in the silent version.

Stewart is ideally cast as the sewer-man hero, who lives in the garret of a Parisian tenement so he can be near the stars, who is confident that he is a "very remarkable fellow," and who instills courage into the feminine wail whom he takes under his protection.

It is Stewart's first big chance on the screen and he justifies all the confidence that has been felt in him.

Miss Simon loses none of the warmth of the part of Diane in her portrayal and gives a tender and captivating performance.

The picture is hailed as one of Hollywood's superior remakes of an old success. Whether you saw it before, or whether you see it now for the first time, you will fall under its spell.

Jean Herscholt, Gregory Ratoff, Gale Sondergaard, J. Edward Bromberg, John Qualen, Thomas Beck and Sigmund Rumann are a few of the featured players in the new hit.

"Seventh Heaven" is to be augmented on the screen tomorrow by the first-rate comedy "We Have Our Moments." Sally Eilers and James Dunn are back together again in this sprightly tale that has Mischa Auer in the leading supporting role. Warren Hymer and Fay Bainter are also to be seen in this new comedy.

A new Disney Silly Symphony in color, "Woodland Cafe," and World News Events complete the program offering continuous shows throughout the day.

AT STATE TONIGHT

"Conflict," a story of the great Northwest, will be shown for the last time tonight at the State theater with a supporting program of an all-star comedy "Spring Is Here," a colored cartoon, a newsreel and a chapter of the serial, "The Fighting Marines."

"Conflict," taken from the Jack London story, "The Abysmal Brute," stars John Wayne and Jean Rogers in a film revelation of the struggle for supremacy between two giant lumberjacks. The thrilling action-romance was filmed in the Sierra Nevada mountains and has a background of unusual beauty.

Gay Luncheon Brings Happy Recollections

Yesterday when Auld Lang Syne club members gathered from various Southern points for one of their quarterly reunions, held this time in Long Beach, they were joined by many others who recalled with them, memories of Gardena Grove school days in "Days of auld lang syne."

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hill welcomed the group to their home, 420 Cedar avenue, Long Beach, and had arranged for the Virginia baked ham which formed the meat course of the tempting covered dish menu served at noon. Mrs. Hill also had baked the big anniversary cake served at the conclusion of the luncheon.

She used the brightest of spring's lovely flowers in garlanding her home for these old friends, but the garden too drew them at intervals during the day. For it was a bloom with blossoms, and the aviary and landscaping were all interesting.

Teacher Greeted
Place of honor at the luncheon was reserved for J. P. Yoder, who had been teacher to many of those present, and later had been a valued co-worker with them as they grew up and assumed teaching posts in turn. His presence served to recall the memory of many childish pranks of his erstwhile pupils.

Auld Lang Syne club members included with Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Fannie Newsom, also of Long Beach; Mesdames Carrie Chaffee, Mina Newsom, Estelle Harper, Lida Mitchell, Agnes Stanley and Miss Mettie Chaffee, Garden Grove; Mrs. Carrie Hill Small, Whittier; Mrs. Jennie E. Johnson, Laguna Beach; Miss Percie Head, Mrs. Mabel Lowell and Mrs. Emma King Wassum, Santa Ana.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Will Newsom, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hill, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Zerman, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Burns Chaffee, Mr. and Mrs. Bert West of Los Angeles, Mrs. George Rader, Mrs. Maxine Verbeke, Mrs. Mabel Moody Tucker, Mrs. Harry Metzgar (sister of the hostess), Messrs. ### Family Group Returns From Trip to Arizona

Mrs. Maurice Enderle and sons, Wallace and Allan, Yorba street and Mrs. Enderle's brother, Claude Owens, Stanford University student, who is enjoying a vacation, returned yesterday from a visit with relatives in Phoenix, Ariz.

They spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Owens and Miss Kathleen Cox, parents and niece of Mrs. Enderle and Claude Owens. It was just a month ago that the family left their home city of Santa Ana to take up residence in Phoenix, where their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Stewart and child, Dale and Sue, also reside. The Stewarts entertained the visitors from California for part of the time.

Mrs. Enderle and her sons and brother escaped rainy weather, reporting an unusually pleasant trip during which they enjoyed such springtime scenes as fields of wildflowers in colorful array. They traveled to Phoenix by way of Blythe, and made the return trip via the Yuma route.

Claude Owens expects to leave Sunday for Palo Alto, and will be accompanied by Andy Wilson of Newport Beach, a graduate student at Stanford University. Mr. Owens has been a guest in the Enderle home for the past week.

Winslow-MacFarlane Wedding to Take Place May 16

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wells MacFarlane, 617 East Walnut street, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their niece, Miss Dorothea MacFarlane and Fred Burt Winslow, son of Mrs. Fred W. Winslow, 502 East Pine street.

The wedding of the young couple will take place Sunday afternoon, May 16 at 4 p. m. in First Congregational church, where both Miss MacFarlane and her fiancé are members. The two families have been active in affairs of First Congregational church for many years.

Miss MacFarlane, who had some of her early schooling in Anaheim, attended Santa Ana High school, from where she was graduated last year. She has made her home with her uncle and aunt for the past three years. Mr. Winslow, a graduate of junior college, also attended Santa Ana High school. ### MISS WINIFRED JACOBS Far places of the world are a commonplace to lovely Winifred Jacobs, here from Panama as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barr, Newport Road. Her father, Captain W. F. Jacobs, is marine superintendent in the Canal Zone, and since her convent days in France, Miss Jacobs has experienced travel and living in the Orient with her parents, and some two years in Panama. The gay social life of an army post divides her interests with newspaper work, and in "covering the water front," she has met and interviewed countless celebrities as they passed through the Panama Canal.

Interesting Guests Arrive From Kentucky

Interesting visitors in this city are Captain and Mrs. James R. Simpson and sons, Bartlett and Howard, of Fort Douglas, Ky., who are guests of Captain Simpson's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Simpson and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, 1406 Bush street.

Arriving a few days ago, the visitors have been renewing friendships formed during Christmas time in 1935, when they made an extended stay in the Southland. They will sail April 9 from San Francisco for the Philippine Islands, where Captain Simpson of the United States Army will be stationed for two years. He has served in various other foreign fields, but this will be his first stay in the Philippines.

Concluding their visit in Santa Ana April 1, the Simpsons and their two sons will leave for San Francisco, where they will visit with Captain Simpson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simpson until sailing time. Paul Simpson is production manager for Schillings.

House-Guests Complimented At Formal Tea

Those friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Barr who have found such pleasure in meeting their interesting house-guests, Mrs. Barr's sister, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, and Miss Winifred Jacobs, both of Panama, the Canal Zone, continued pleasant associations with the visitors this afternoon, when Mrs. Barr entertained at a formal tea in the Newport Road home.

Lieutenant and Mrs. William Specht of Coronado arrived this morning to spend the week-end in the Barr home, and Mrs. Specht was in the receiving line with Mrs. Barr and the complimented guests. The four young matrons were so charmingly sown that they fitted admirably into the gay spring-like atmosphere of the flower-filled home.

Mrs. Barr chose a printed crepe in fresh blue and white flower design. Her sister, Mrs. Armstrong, was in daffodil yellow or-gandy; Miss Jacobs chose delicate blue organdy, and Mrs. Specht's smart frock was in the sunny tones that blend so beautifully with her Titian hair.

While the Barr gardens and those of various friends, yielded flowers in every vivid hue for home decorations, those in yellow and white were reserved for the dining room, where the tea table was an interesting development of the yellow and white theme. White daffodils and jonquills were grouped in the midst of pale yellow candles, and the laces and silver tea services completed a charming effect.

Close friends of Mrs. Barr who assisted not only in pouring tea but in all hostess duties of the afternoon, included Mrs. Edward Hall, Mrs. Franklin G. West, Mrs. Horace Stevens, Mrs. Fred Porgy and Mrs. John Ball. Some thirty or more friends were present during the afternoon.

Week-end Plans
Tonight, Mr. and Mrs. Barr, Lieutenant and Mrs. Specht, Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Jacobs were dining in Long Beach where they will spend the week-end. Mrs. Armstrong's husband, Lieutenant H. J. Armstrong, is stationed in the Canal Zone. Miss Palmer's father, Captain W. F. Palmer, after service in Europe and in China, is now at Panama also as marine superintendent.

While Mrs. Armstrong will spend much of her time in "the States" in her sister's home, she will also visit elsewhere in the Southland, as will Miss Palmer, who will be both in Long Beach and Coronado during her month or so here.

Nominating Committee Named for Literary Section

As Ebell year draws to a close, the various sections are preparing to elect new officers and conclude activities of the season, just as members of Thursday Evening Literature section did this week at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Antonie Segerstrom, 1914 Victoria Drive. Although the leader, Mrs. Henry Williams, was ill and unable to attend, she sent her nominating committee appointments including Mrs. Lyle Mitchell, Mrs. Horace Leeling and Mrs. William F. Crody.

Mrs. Harold Moomaw, who presided, introduced Mrs. J. M. Cloyes following a short business meeting. Mrs. Cloyes' contribution to a very interesting program was a review of two of the plays from Noel Coward's book, "Tonight at 8:30".

Mrs. R. C. Hollis and Mrs. C. E. Bressler poured tea during the social interval with which the affair was concluded. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Segerstrom were Mesdames E. L. Russell, E. F. Bruning and Kenneth Ranney.

Make This Model At Home

EASY TO KEEP LITTLE ONE DAINY IN THIS PRETTY FROCK!

PATTERN 4305

BY ANNE ADAMS

No scarcity of "bows" for this young charmer, is there? At least, not when three small perky ones adorn her cunning yoke. Her frock is dainty enough for parties, pretty for kindergarten or early school years for girls from two to 10. Aren't those sleeve and shoulder frills adorable? The sleeve trim may be omitted in a version for warmer days, and the frock will remain just as fetching. A dainty pantie pattern accompanies that of the frock. Busy mothers will appreciate the ease with which Pattern 4305 may be made, and want to make up several versions for their "young hopefuls." Pretty as a picture in crisp dotted swiss, organdy or percale.

Pattern 4305 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 takes 25-8 yards 3/4 inch fabric, and 2-4 yard 1-2 inch ribbon. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Chicago Symphony Heard

By HOMER CANFIELD

Hollywood, March 27—

THIS CORNER OF OURS WILL be bulging on all sides before we get through telling you about what's happening in the air tonight and tomorrow. And then we'll probably only squeeze half of it in.

Throughout the week, engineers, producers and executives have been running wildly all over the country stringing up wires here and there in order to bring you the outlanding Easter services and activities.

From fashion parades on Park avenue to a service aboard the U.

S. S. Flagship Pennsylvania have been scheduled.

Some excellent services have been promised. But if we were to dare recommend one above all others, we'd perhaps point a knowing finger towards Glendale's Forest Lawn

Memorial Park. It strikes us as being the most ambitious of the wonderful ones planned.

(KNX, 5:45)

But it was impossible to tell you about all of them so your correspondent was forced to boil the many details down into a sizeable package, still retaining as many of the important facts as possible.

So we'll leave you to find your own way around in the "Special

Easter Program" department—second aisle to the right.

AN UNUSUALLY INTERESTing program is offered by the Chicago Symphony orchestra tonight. As during the others in this series of fortnightly two-hour concerts, Dr. Frederick Stock conducts.

Brahms, Franck, Wagner and

Beethoven have been the outstanding names. Your commentator is Henry Weber, prominent musician.

(KNX, 6:15)

JOE COOK'S LINEUP INCLUDES

Stuart Irwin of the screen;

Toscha Seidel, violinist; Dale Carnegie, author of "How to Win

Friends and Influence People";

Edna Dowling and Ray Doolie

(where have they been?); the No-telle Dame Glee Club and Alex Templeton, blind pianist. (KFI, 6:30)

Tomorrow, instead of Richard

Crooks on the Ford evening concert, you'll hear Baritone Richard Bonelli. Crooks was forced to cancel his advertised appearance due to laryngitis. This makes the second successive Sunday Bonelli has been hurriedly called in to substitute. Last week it was for

Richard Eddy. (KNX, 6)

Hawaii's Peaks Found Growing, Also Shrinking
HONOLULU, (UP)—Map makers and guide book writers have been forced to revise certain data on the territory of Hawaii following a United States geological survey report which shows parts of the islands rather unstable.

For 40 years maps have shown the highest altitude in the islands to be the 13,825-foot spire of Mauna Kea in the United States national park on Hawaii Island.

Federal surveyors report it is 13,784 feet, a drop of 41 feet. Second highest peak, Mauna Loa, also in the federal park, for years has been credited with 12,675 feet. It appears to be rising, for the latest official figure is 13,680 feet.

On the island of Maui, Haleakala peak, the world's largest extinct volcano, has dropped seven feet to 10,925 feet.

Tests Disclose Life Affected By Smoky Air
ST. LOUIS, (UP)—A cross-section of what the average St. Louisan's lungs may look like was obtained by the St. Louis Medical Society in an experiment on rats subjected to the city's smoky atmosphere.

Forty rats were used in the search for laboratory-controlled information. Previously the society had confined its efforts to checking with individuals concerning the effect of the smoke on each. As one of its bulletins pointed out, "more than a million persons living in the smoke belt are serving as human guinea pigs in a colossal experiment." But the rats served the purpose better in finding out what smoke does to living things. Ten pairs of rats were placed in an air-conditioned room. All air impurities were excluded. Another 10 pairs were forced to live out their lives in ordinary St. Louis atmosphere.

A second generation and a third grew up and died under the same conditions. Measurements were taken of the growth and weight of the rats and after their deaths the lungs were studied under microscopes. The experiments showed that every single rat in the air-conditioned cages had fine, normal, pink lungs, and that every rat in the regular St. Louis atmosphere had gray, discolored lungs. The bronchial tubes were blackened and carbon and other smoke by-products were deposited in all of the inside tissues of the lungs.

MODE REVERSED IN JOB STUDY

DENVER, (UP)—Paul L. Essert, principal of the Emily Griffith Opportunity School here, believes he has found a way to solve the dilemma produced by the fact that employers want experienced workers, a condition which prevents novices from getting the needed experience.

His idea deals rather roughly with the established theories of education because it is built around the belief that the products of a vocational school should be tailor-made instead of ready-made.

Schools have been turning out ready-made products for years, which has released students on the world in a traditional mold designed along the lines of what educators, in general, think students, in general, should know, according to Essert.

Places Job First
That technic has never resulted in the ideal situation where students step out of the classroom into jobs, Essert has felt all along that the function of a school should be getting jobs for the students.

His new system virtually grew out of itself. Last summer a Denver firm asked Essert if he could supply several hundred persons for seasonal employment in marking maps for tourists. The work required sound knowledge of American geography, a modicum of stenographic ability and familiarity with the technic and routine employed by the firm.

Essert began classes designed specifically to prepare students for that particular job. After completing the course the students stepped directly into the jobs. The firm had figured it took 17 days to train novices for the work, but the Opportunity School students reached top efficiency in a week. More than 400 young men and women obtained summer jobs through that one course.

Reverse Style Adopted

The success of this venture convinced Essert that the school had been going about the business of educating its students for jobs in reverse style to the optimum method. He decided that it would be much wiser to turn the students out according to the measurements supplied by the prospective employer—to find the job first and fit the student into it.

The plan is now in full swing at the school and is producing results although it is just getting under way. There is no limit to the applications which can be made of the tailor-made technic in vocational education and the school authorities are gradually extending it into more fields.

Stamp News

BY I. S. KLEIN

FIRST example of coronation stamps to be released on May 12 throughout the British Empire comes from New Zealand. It is a set of three values, each bearing portraits of the king and queen, surrounded by Maori designs. The New Zealand coat of arms rests between them.

Only Samoa, Australia, and India have decided not to have any special coronation issues, but their decision may be changed at the last minute.

Canada may be the first of the British dominions to issue a regular series of King George VI stamps, even before the coronation stamps come out.

The Rhode Island tercentenary commemorative stamp, first issued May 4, 1936, has been withdrawn from sale. Total number printed was 75,000,000.

For the first time in philatelic history, stamps are to be issued for more than one country. They are intended for use only within the Little Entente—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania. Rumania has already printed its stamps, with the names of the other two nations on them. These will be permitted only on mail going to either of the other two nations.

Arizona Holds Many Secrets Of Dinosaurs

CAMERON, ARIZ.—(UP)—Arizona's famous Painted Desert once was the roaming place of giant dinosaurs, scientists concluded here after finding fossils of large footprints.

The footprints, varying from eight inches to a foot in size, were discovered in the stone surface. Originally, scientists concluded, the ancient monsters stomped about in soft sand, but in thousands of years of shifting the earth

MAN IS ORDERED TO PAY ALIMONY

John Martinez, 32, Irwindale, charged with failure to support his minor children, was given a one year suspended county jail term when he appeared before Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today. The suspension was on condition Martinez pay $30 monthly for support of the family. He will be on probation for two years.

Charges of disturbing the peace, filed against Mrs. Lorrinda Ballard, Santa Ana, following an altercation in a local eating place, were dismissed by Judge Morrison today, at request of the district attorney.

COCHEMS IN NEW FIELD

Ed Cochems, local photographer, wanted to go into the beauty parlor business yesterday, and was granted the privilege by Santa Ana police. He asked permission to "touch up" one of the new traffic safety girl signs to see whether or not he could make her "pretty." Officers Hunter Leach and N. C. Nelson delivered the girl to him.

General HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In a recent column, Mr. David Lawrence wrote a portrait of a dictator—American style. He quite correctly said that, when we get a dictator, he will be very different in pattern from any of the current European models—look differently, act differently, talk differently.

You can't imagine an American Caesar wearing a skull cap trimmed with chicken feathers, waving his arm like a windmill instead of saying "Hyah," sticking his jaw out and making faces like a gorilla when he speaks. He'd get razed out of politics in a month.

But Mr. Lawrence says a 1937 model dictator has snuk up on us without a dictator suit on. "He is today the actual dictator, wielding more political and economic power in America today than any other man even excepting Mr. Roosevelt, who is being compelled to accept (his) view. . . ."

Mr. Lawrence's boogie man is, of course, John L. Lewis, who, he says, "dictates to the Department of Labor, where Secretary Perkins does about as Mr. Lewis wishes."

That's a joke. In the General Motors strike, she called John Lewis is in supposedly to meet Alfred Sloan whom she had sneaked in through another door avoiding a solid phalanx of reporters. But Mr. Sloan didn't want to see Mr. Lewis. So she kept Mr. Lawrence's American Mussolini stewing alone in an ante-room for the greater part of a business day and sent him away fuming but impotent.

Far from doing "about as Mr. Lewis wishes," she has done so consistently what Mr. Lewis does not wish, that so far as the latter is concerned she is a sort of female Simon Legree. He would probably rather see Lamont Du Pont as the Secretary of Labor.

"Lewis dictates to the White House," writes Mr. Lawrence — "Lewis and the President are in frequent consultation, but what Mr. Lewis says is usually done."

That shows how far off a journalist can get when he stops reporting and starts guessing. The only real demand Lewis ever made was that congress not be permitted to adjourn without passing the revised Guffey Act. That's what he asked. What he got was a kick in the pants.

So far as I know, the only request he ever made that was promised, was that Donald Richberg be kicked out of N. R. A., and the Supreme Court beat the President to that. He isn't in "frequent conversation" with the President. His great enemy William Green is, however—and he comes in the front door when he visits too.

Mr. Lewis has seen the President twice since election and one of these visits was so carefully covered that the news didn't get it. Mr. Lawrence may think Mr. Lewis is dictator at the White House, but that isn't what Mr. Lewis thinks. He thinks he is Little Orphan Annie.

"Mr. Lewis dictates to the National Labor Relations Board, which interjects its orders or refrains from issuing them according as the pressure from the Lewis forces give them their cue."

That hasn't been my observation. Lewis is pretty alert but not quick enough to dictate to those babies. They beat him to it. You don't dictate to a perfect retriever or to a streamlined Santa Claus who, in a twinkling, would come from the North Pole or climb down a smoke stack to bring you what you want before you even ask for it.

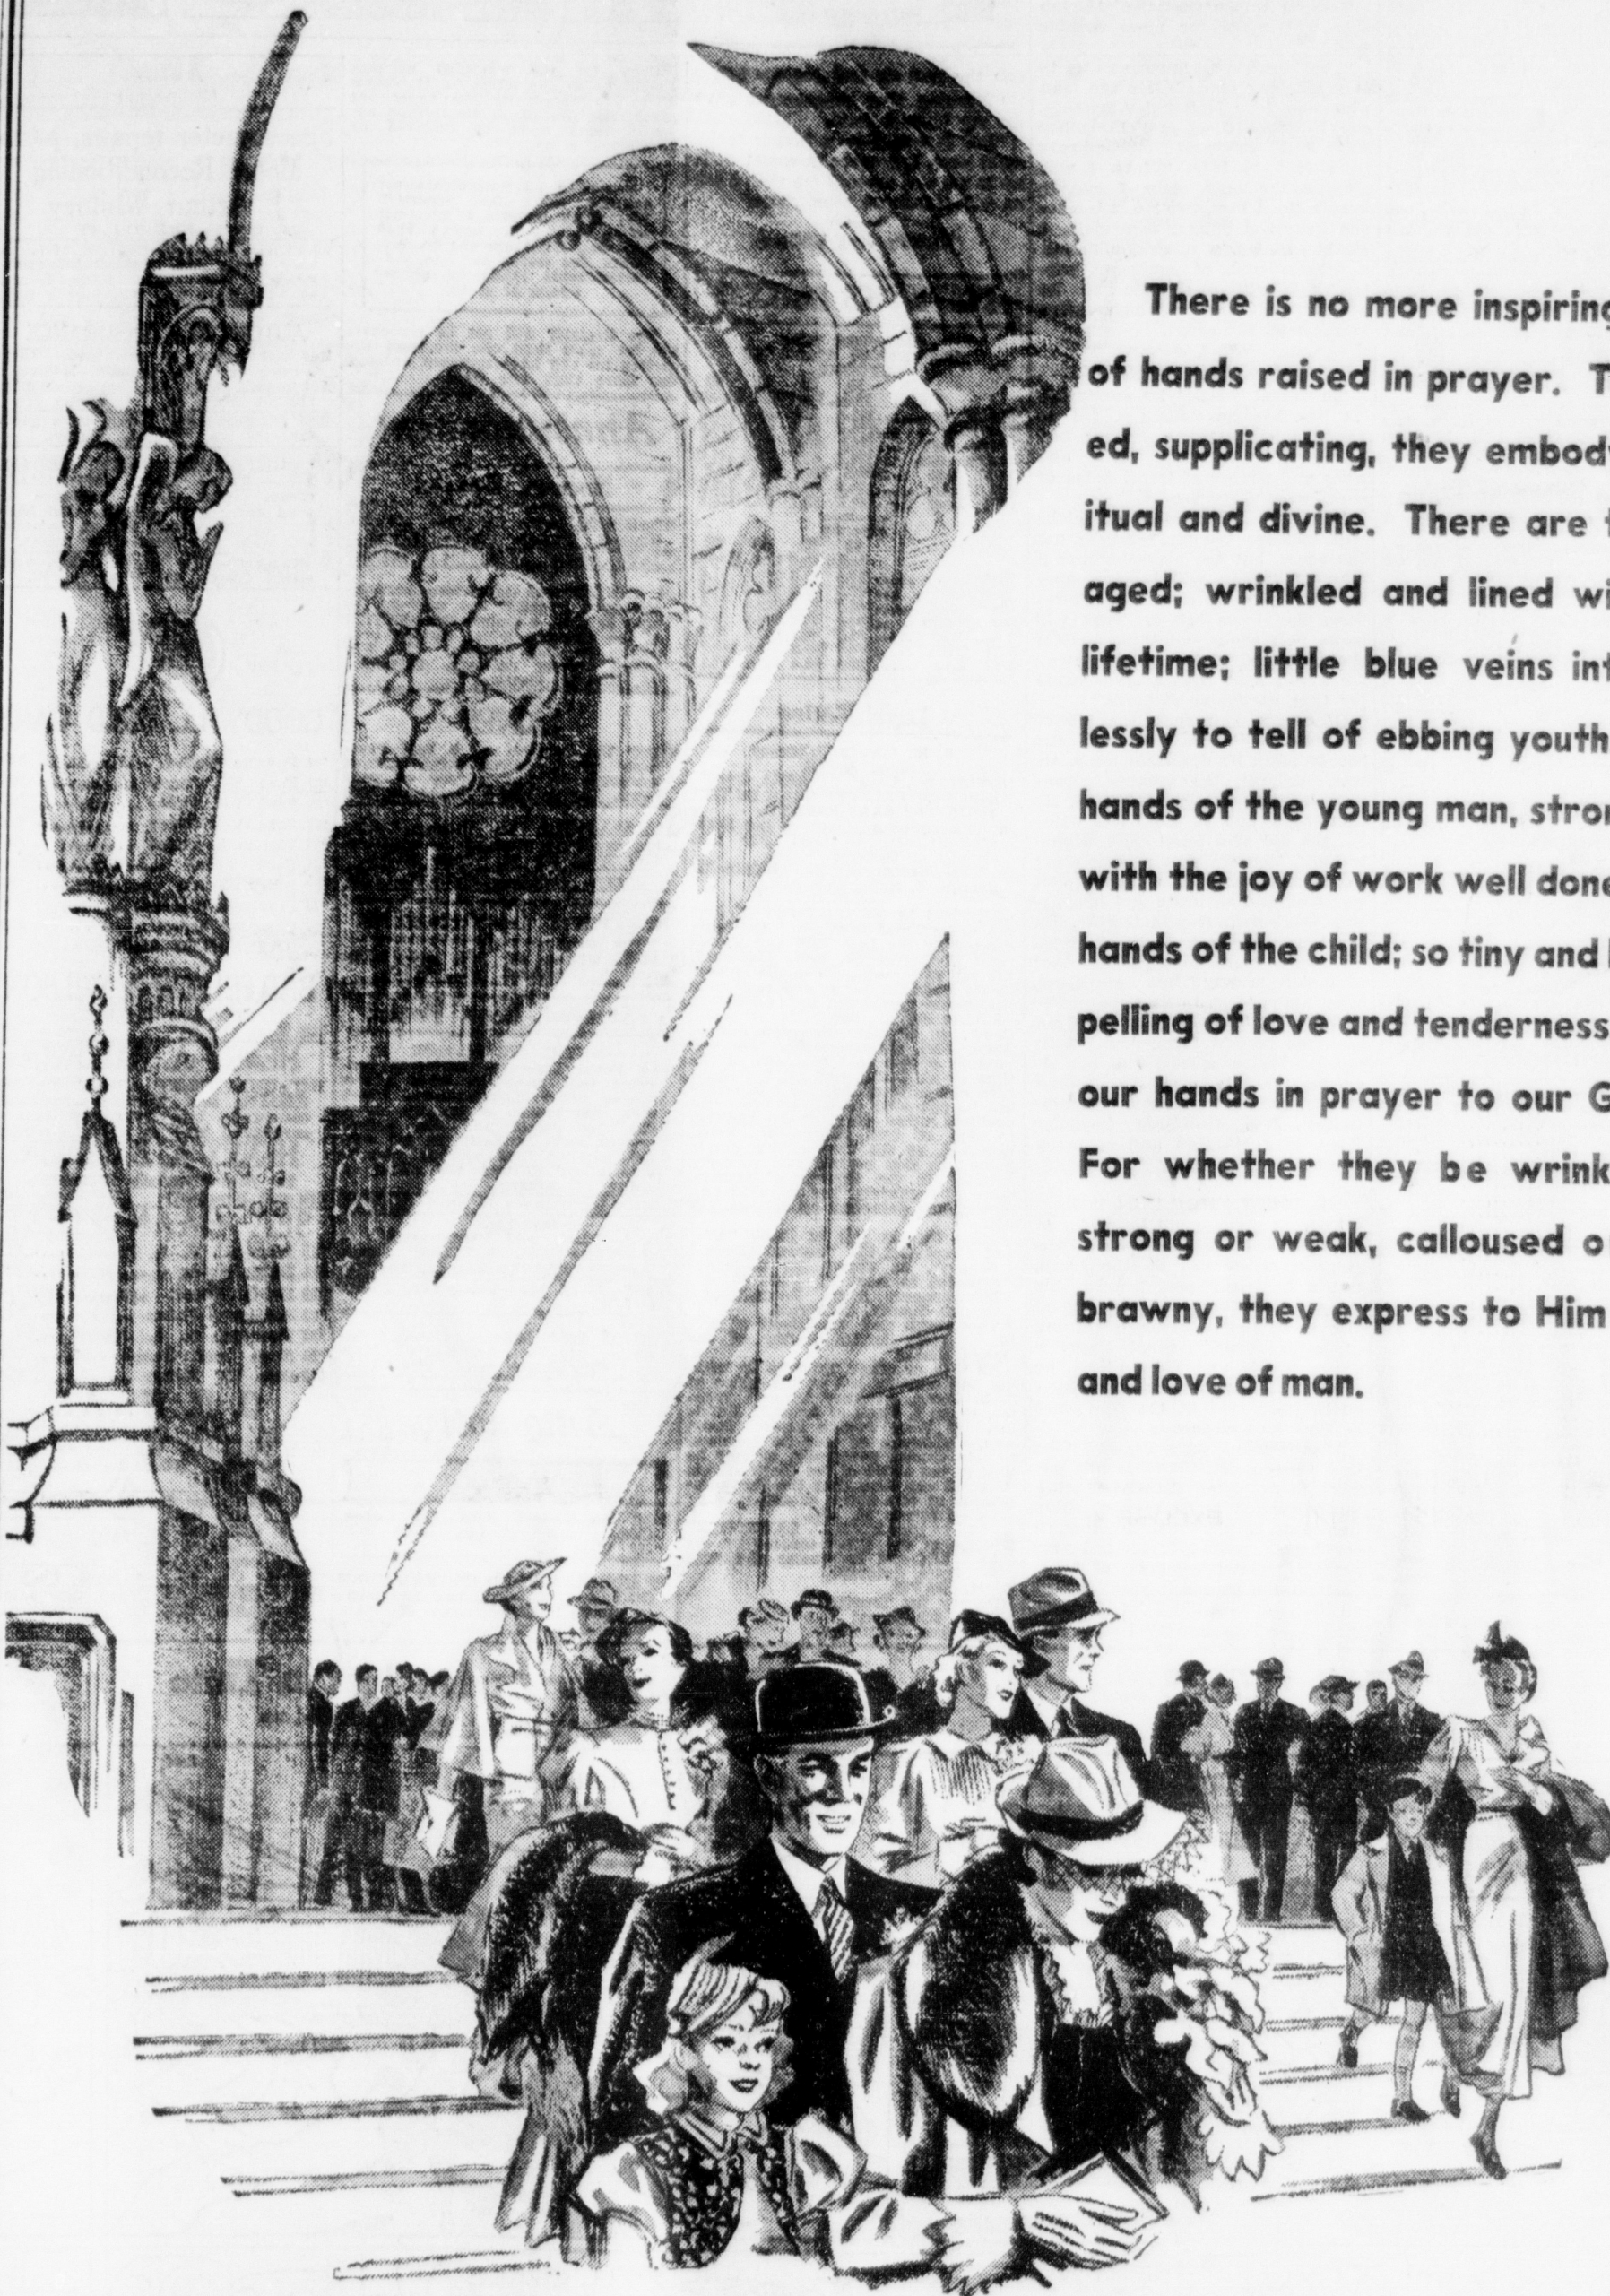

The last Lawrence charge takes the cake—that Lewis not only dictates to Washington but also to certain business men. He half-way won a strike and Mr. Myron Taylor avoided a similar strike by a half-way concession. But most of the important business men I know, outside of the coal industry, wouldn't give him anything more desirable than small-pox — much less do as he dictated.

Mr. Lewis is, of course, growing greatly as a labor leader, but the idea that he wants to be a political dictator is perfectly absurd.

Bring the Family to Church for EASTER SERVICES

There is no more inspiring sight than that of hands raised in prayer. Tranquil, composed, supplicating, they embody all that is spiritual and divine. There are the hands of the aged; wrinkled and lined with the toil of a lifetime; little blue veins interweaving endlessly to tell of ebbing youth. There are the hands of the young man, strong and calloused with the joy of work well done. There are the hands of the child; so tiny and helpless, so compelling of love and tenderness. Let us all raise our hands in prayer to our God this Easter. For whether they be wrinkled or smooth, strong or weak, calloused or fine, little or brawny, they express to Him the hope, faith, and love of man.

Easter Day

"Christ Has Arisen" has been the Hallelujah of millions of people for nineteen centuries.

The voices from a million throats will sing anthems of praise tomorrow morning, they will be lifted up toward the heavenly dome of all creation in songs of love, faith, and reverence.

The birds in the sky and the frogs on the earth will each voice his recognition of the cosmic urge of spring, a beginning of the cycle of recreation. The trees and the grass are responding to the urge of rebirth, to rebeautify the face of the earth.

Easter Day is a glorious one, made so by the story of the resurrection—death is temporary, life is everlasting.

THREE COSTLY SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

When our government was formed, every possible precaution was taken to prevent any man, or group of men, from having special privilege. We succeeded fairly well with preventing special privilege in the beginning of the Republic. As wealth accumulated, special privileges were gained until special privileges became so strong that John Sherman gave warning, when he was senator, that unless these special privileges were curtailed, we would likely lose our form of government. The result of the foresight of John Sherman was the Sherman Anti-Trust Law which was enacted in 1890. In 1913, the Sherman Anti-Trust Law was amended and special privileges were given to labor unions and agriculture. Before this amendment was passed, there was more progress made in actual development than in any prior time.

There were three of these very un-Democratic laws that gave very costly privileges to different groups. These special privileges were so costly to those not included, that it is doubtful, no matter how rich the country is in natural resources, if any government can long withstand the injustice of these un-Democratic laws.

They were:
(1) The Banking laws, which gave the banks the right to manufacture credit used as money and by this special privilege receive the right to consume large amounts of wealth they did not produce.

(2) The Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, which gave the farm and labor groups the right to combine to stop production so that those in the combination could receive more for their services than other workers or farmers were willing to perform the same identical service for. The results are now just bearing their natural fruits in the demands of John Lewis and Harry Bridges for the sole right to bargain for those who do not want them to bargain for them.

(3) The taxing laws which gave large groups the special privilege of representation, (voting), without taxation. Large groups under the income tax laws were given the special privilege of having representation in managing the government without supporting the government or supporting the government in proportion to what they cost the government. Representation without taxation is exactly as un-democratic and dangerous as taxation without representation. It leads to exactly the same results—poverty and eventually to slavery.

In all past history no nation has lasted long under costly special privileges like any of these. When we have all three combined, the time of the show-down is hastened. Especially is this true, when neither the Republican nor Democratic parties take a stand against these real un-democratic special privileges. It is no wonder that Roosevelt is warning us of "another 1929" within a couple of years.

As a result of these laws, the morale of the people has been deteriorated so that now practically everyone is seeking special privileges. The result is that instead of people depending upon themselves to support themselves and their government, they expect the government and others to support them. If there is any one thing that is ruining our lives, our happiness and our future, it is special privilege. Until the people are willing to eliminate special privileges, there cannot be better jobs for all.

We now seem to think we can correct the results of these special privileges by concentrating more power in the central government. When we violate the Universal Rule, which is the only true interpretation of the Golden Rule, there certainly is no remedy by simply giving more power to any individual. No man who believes in real democracy would want such power and to give this almost unlimited power over our lives to any man who is not enough of a student of real democracy to know what the result will be, is only to cause more unemployment and lower the real wages of all who work.

Let us correct the cause of our trouble and not add to it by giving more special privileges to our politicians.

DOES NOT BENEFIT THE POOR

In The Register Clearing House, Ben Tarver had a very interesting discussion on the effects of the income tax on the poor. The great majority of those who never imposed difficult tasks on themselves claim the income tax benefits the poor; those who impose difficult tasks upon themselves claim it does not benefit the poor.

Mr. Tarver expressed this sentiment when he said, "That it" (referring to the income tax) "is beneficial to the poor man is a delusion."

In another place, Mr. Tarver says, "the ability to pay theory cannot be defended on the ground of equity * * * no honest merchant or business man ever applies any such doctrine to the conduct of his affairs. * * * Any customer's sense of justice would be outraged should the seller charge him for his purchase according to his ability to pay. Should our Uncle Samuel be any less ethical than he expects his nephews and nieces to be?"

In another place Mr. Tarver wisely says, "It" (referring to the income tax) "may be pleasing to those who desire to POSE as generous to the poor and as friends to the laboring man, but it in no way tends to better their conditions."

Mr. Tarver might well have added that instead of bettering their conditions, it lowers their wages, raises their cost of living and reduces the standard of living of the poor much more than it does the rich because it makes capital scarce; and capital, in order to be of benefit to the owner, must be operated and employment helped. Therefore the income tax decreases the demand for labor and lowers the real wages of the workers.

AUTHORITY TO CONTROL SIT-DOWN STRIKES

Senator Robinson says that nothing can be done by the federal government about the sit-down strikes because the Supreme Court has not yet passed on the Wagner Act.

On this subject of whether or not the federal government has the authority to stop sit-down strikes, Walter Lippmann has the following to say:

If Senator Robinson believes that, he is fooling himself. For it can be shown conclusively that the current labor troubles are not due to lack of Federal authority under the Constitution.

The proof is to be found in the fact that the two longest and longest strikes in recent years have occurred in an industry which is absolutely and unqualifiedly within the jurisdiction of the Federal government. I refer to the shipping industry, to the strike on the west coast in 1934, and to the strike of 1936.

There is no question about the Federal government's authority over shipping. No tortured construction by the most aged and infirm defeatist lawyer has ever attempted to deny that shipping is "commerce with foreign nations and among the several States." Yet under President Roosevelt there have been two big strikes in this industry. Manifestly, the failure to prevent them, and the failure to settle them quickly, cannot be charged up to the Supreme Court.

Yet we are asked to believe that if the administration had the same clear authority over the automobile industry which it has always had over shipping, it would know how to end the industrial war in Michigan. It does not make sense. What would Senator Robinson do in the factories of Detroit that he did not do, though there was constitutional power to do it, in the ports of San Francisco and of New York? If the N. R. A. was the solution of these troubles, what was there to prevent the administration from enacting an N. R. A. in the shipping industry? They had the warning of the 1934 strike. The Supreme Court's decision of 1935 in the Schechter case in no way affected the shipping industry. Under that decision an N. R. A. for the shipping industry would be clearly constitutional.

So there is an important industry where the President and Congress have failed to exercise the authority which they possessed. Yet they tell us that if they had the same authority in Michigan they would be exercising it successfully."

Of course, the federal government has the authority to preserve law and order if the states do not see fit to do it and permit the violation of constitutional rights. The real reason the laws are not obeyed and the sit-down strikers compelled to obey the rights of others is that we have had so much loose thinking and the great majority of people believe that the total purchasing power is increased by increasing wages and that all wages can be arbitrary and fixed; that we can lift ourselves by our own boot straps, figuratively speaking.

The majority of people fail to realize that arbitrary wages can destroy all capital and make it of no value. The sit-down strike is a direct result of special privileges. When any group of workers is granted special privileges, sooner or later all groups demand it.

Strikes in labor have become so common that we do not recognize them as a special privilege. If no one would demand more for performing a service than another is willing to perform the same service for, there would be no unemployment and the standard of living undoubtedly would be two or three times as high as it is at present.

Our depression is the result of un-democratic practices—that one man is better than another and is entitled to conditions that another man is not entitled to.

Collective bargaining, as practiced, giving one group special privileges over another group of workers, is un-democratic and leads to chaos.

WHAT IS DEMOCRACY?

Next Tuesday night, at the Forum for Political and Economic Education the question of whether or not we can have a high standard of living under a pure democracy will be discussed.

A pure democracy is undoubtedly a democracy that gives the voting majority complete authority to pass any laws they see fit without regard to the minority. It is a Democracy without a Constitution.

The Democracy under which we enjoyed such great improvement in living standards, surpassing all other places in the world, was not by any means a pure Democracy. The minority was protected by a written agreement when the government was formed.

To our mind, the kind of a Democracy we want is not a Democracy controlled by the voting majority on important things. Democracy means no special privileges to any class or any group; it means limited power to any man or group; it means the strong shall have consideration for the rights of others. It does not mean, however, that the voting majority should prevent the minority from using its talents to serve Society as a whole.

Real Democracy consists in freedom of enterprise; freedom of initiative to create but a limited right of initiative and enterprise to destroy—to consume.

It is only because we have drifted so far away from the fundamentals of a real Democracy that we have millions of people out of work and our standard of living is getting lower and lower.

Beyond all wealth, honor, or even health, is the attachment we form to noble souls; because to become one with the good, generous, and true, is to become in a measure good, generous, and true ourselves.

—Dr. Thomas Arnold.

Register Clearing House

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor Register:

Although I am not an Iowa farmer as intimated by W.F. Cooper of Costa Mesa in his letter to The Register published March 23rd, I thank him for the compliment, as the old dandy said when asked if he had changed for a $5 bill.

Several other inaccuracies in his comment on my letter to The Register, published March 16 seem to invite correction. The fact that "Old Nell" is referred to as a hen is a good deal like a football game in many ways. Like politics, football games need referees, and realizing that the players are human and desire to win, it is provided that there can be no appeal from the ruling of the referee and this is fully understood by the players on both teams. Imagine then a football game in which the brilliant captain and half back on one team had turned in a brilliant performance, reeling off long runs, passing accurately and when it seemed advisable to kick placing the ball so accurately in the coffin corner that it put the opposing team in a difficult spot every time this happened. The player seemed to have everything and surely seemed destined for All-American honors. On a proposed triple pass from which this brilliant player is supposed to weave down the side lines for a sure touchdown, something goes wrong and the potential All-American athlete is smeared for a 10-yard loss. In a football game that would be a down lost and 10 yards additional to make for a first down and the game would proceed. In the political game apparently, if one is a star of the proper magnitude, when something comparable to this happens, the player jumps to his feet with a snarl of rage, socks the tackler in the jaw, kicks the referee in the shins and demands that the rules be changed—NOW—making it illegal for the uncouth gentlemen on the opposing team to impede his progress when he has the ball.

Still speaking figuratively, time has been called at the present time and it is encouraging to the lovers of fair play to note that some of the foremost rooters for the brilliant players' side have joined with the members of the rooters squad for the opposing team in demanding that the game go ahead according to the rules.

Yours truly

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Me and Shorty Judge and Persey Weever was standing around the lam post, and I said, G, look who's coming with a new green sweater on, Meaning Reddy Merfy, and Shorty said, O boy, is that green or is that green?

Meaning it couldn't be any greener and still stay the same color, and Shorty Judge said, Hay, let's all make fun of it and see what he does.

I know what he'll do without seeing, Persey Weever said, and I said, Aw, what's you afraid of, we're 3 against one, ain't we?

All right, you start first if you're so brave, Persey said.

Wich I did, saying to Reddy Merfy, Hello Reddy, I notice you've got a kind of a green sweater.

Well what of it, what about it, what's you got to say about it? Reddy said starting to look even tougher than natural, and I said, O nothing, cant a guy just mention a color?

Not when it's on me they cant, Reddy said, and I gave Shorty Judge a poke, meaning it was his turn, and he said, I bet people can see you coming about a mile and a half away in that sweater, Reddy.

Do you want to see my fist coming about a second and a half away? Reddy said, and Shorty said, Why, G, what's a matter, I didn't even mention the color.

And him and me both gave Persey Weever a poke, and Persey said, G wizzickers, Reddy.

Now what's a matter with you? Reddy said, and Persey said, Me? Nothing, I didn't even mention the sweater, not to mention the color, he said.

Hay, look here, the next guy that mentions anything about anything is going to be mentioned among the dead and wounded, Reddy said. Hay, what is all this, anyways? he said.

Wich just then some of the other fellows came up, making us feel lucky, and we quick got up a game of cops and racketeers.

The cost of the last election was 52 cents for each vote cast, not counting relief.

Great wrongs needn't worry us. The worst wrongs are the little ones that don't make us quite mad enough to fight.

There are no spendthrift races and thrifty races, but only lands that have much and lands that have little to divide.

Origin of law and order: One group got some advantage and made sacred rules to preserve it.

How times change! Once a rich uncle died and left it to us; now we die and leave it to a rich uncle named Sam.

NO MATTER HOW LOW HE FALLS, MAN MUST HAVE SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF—IF ONLY HIS "SNAPPY COME-BACKS."

Nature is kind. If we had sense enough to appreciate our youth, think how we'd worry about getting old.

Free land: A melon patch where everybody grabs melons and assumes that somebody else will take care of the vines.

If you threaten to make trouble unless you are bribed, it is racketeering unless you are the head of a nation.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "WHEN I GET A BAD COLD," SAID THE DOCTOR, "I TREAT MYSELF AS I WOULD ANY OTHER PATIENT."

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGLO PATRI

THE WHINING CHILD

If you have a child who is forever whining about this and that, he is either too hot or too cold, too feeble to work, afraid of the wind and shunning the sunshine, take time to think over his ways. How did he get that way? Why isn't he happy-go-lucky, ready for anything like the husky youngster down the road?

"O, he had so many childish illnesses. First he had whooping cough and he nearly died of it; then he had measles, and just as he was getting over them he had the chicken-pox, and then he had to have his tonsils out—always something. We just had to watch every movement he made. Such a delicate child."

That was truly unfortunate, but did you try always to keep him thinking away from his troubles toward something brighter and healthier? Did you keep him thinking about how fine it was going to be for him to be well and strong and out playing with the other boys? Or did you keep saying, "Now remember, your stomach can't stand too much. Don't eat that apple. Don't eat that extra potato. No, no, wait until I fix that banana for you to eat."

Did you say, "No, you'd better not go out to play with those children. They're very rough, and you've been sick such a lot that you can't do so much. Better lie down on the couch and I'll read to you." Did you say, "It's too bad, but I can't let you go to Aunt Lily for the holidays. You wouldn't get your cereal cooked the way I cook it. And Aunt Lily doesn't know how to measure your spinach. You have to be SO careful about your food, you know. You don't want to be sick."

That treatment centers the child's mind upon himself. What he eats, what he does, what other people do for him are of the first importance. The life of the household, and that of the community, as far as it can be controlled, moves about him. His feet must be kept dry, his stomach must be coddled, his temperature must be considered, before anybody or anything else. The result is that we have an unhappy, whining, selfish child. No fault of his, but certainly the fault of those who kept calling his attention to his deficiencies, to his weaknesses, and overlooking his strength and his hope completely.

When a child is ill he must have attention and care. But there is a way to give that care and attention without making him feel permanently helpless. We can keep holding out the promise of health, play, fun, hearty living even as we administer the medicine that is going to help him arrive at the promised place. We can keep encouraging him to do what he can as well as he is able even while he is incapacitated for doing many things. We can keep him hoping.

If we hold out perfect health to the ailing child, as a reward for effort made toward it, if we keep showing him how to get the better of his condition, keep him struggling to get out of it, instead of fastening it upon him, we will do more for him than we do when we accent his weaknesses and his temporary needs. We need not cultivate invalidism.

Mr. Patri has prepared a special booklet (No. 301) entitled, "Obedience," in which he tells parents how to cope with the difficult problems of disobedience. Send for it, enclosing 10 cents. ## News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

CRISIS-MAKERS—

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Military staffs around the world are beginning to suspect that Mussolini and Hitler talk a much better war game than they play. Together, they have not even been able to out the communists in Spain.

The serious failure of their equipment and men around Madrid has delayed the inevitable war for a year and possibly for two. This, at any rate, is what the best-informed military men here read between the lines of the recent European dispatches telling of General Franco's minor losses, of Mussolini again pulling hair from his chest, of the British press again boldly bating Italy, of the trouble at the Spanish neutrality conference, etc.

It may not explain everything, but it discloses much of the background of new weakness in the bite of the world's two loudest barkers.

FAILURE—

German soldiers, and particularly German military planes, have fallen down too often in Spain for their deficiencies to be concealed from practical military eyes. The planes have proved to be slower than anticipated in actual war conditions. They are not only heavy but lack sufficient maneuverability.

Soviet fliers on the other side have flown rings around the Germans. Their only trouble is that there are too few of them.

The Germans have decided to redesign both planes and engines. That is probably a two-year program. It seems to practical military men that Hitler will hardly choose to take on Russia until the program is completed.

FRICITION—

The excuse for German and Italian man-failure may be less serious. Those non-combatants who have checked the situation closely believe that neither the Italians nor the Germans at the Spanish front have much heart for their business.

Fricition has developed. General Franco's Moors despise native Spaniards, the Italians do not like the Spaniards and seem to be only casually friendly with the Germans, ditto for the Germans regarding the Italians and Spaniards.

Both the Germans and Italians have their own company and line officers, but the higher commands are all held by Spaniards of Franco's choosing. The Germans and Italians have little confidence in the ability of these Spanish officers.

DANGER—

All this does not necessarily mean Franco is doomed to failure, but his present position is threatening. The defeats he suffered around Madrid are not particularly important. This lost ground may be recovered. But behind him are 120 sizeable towns and cities which he is holding with only a nominal garrison in each place. Garrison duty sapped 50 per cent from the strength of the original army which he put before Madrid. (He had about 35,000 for the initial attack.) Since then he has been reinforced by Germans and Italians, whose numbers can only be guessed, but are expertly guessed between 50,000 and 70,000. If you begin to hear of uprisings against Franco in garrisoned towns, it will be time to sell him short quickly.

POSES—

The most recent flare-up between Mussolini and Britain grew out of a slightly different phase of this background. Mussolini started it in his recent swing through Italy's Mohammedan holdings, by posing as the great white papa of Islam.

As every Britisher knows, John Bull has a copyright on that pose in his vast Mohammedan colonies, possessions and mandates. He has always been touchy about anyone else stepping into the family.

No official here will care to comment publicly, but they all suspect the anti-Italian attacks in the British press had an official flavor. The foreign office has a way of letting the press perform diplomatic missions which cannot be undertaken officially and openly. Mussolini apparently believed likewise, judging from the heat of his response.

Now British officialdom is trying to get the press to soft-pedal the situation and will succeed to whatever extent is desired.

PLANNING—

The state department seems nervous to have heard of neutrality legislation. Officials are saying nothing publicly, and all they will say privately is that the subject is involved in too delicate a debate between the house and senate for them to protrude their noses.

On the inside, they seem to be lending a hand, or at least a couple of fingers, in behalf of the house bill, which gives considerable executive leeway.

That bill will apparently interfere least with their trade policy. They assert that they expect the trade treaty policy to survive. Their story is that most of the countries with which trade treaties are being negotiated are more interested in getting their exports into the United States than in obtaining exports from us. (A notable exception is Britain.)

The neutrality legislation is calculated to affect only four exports directly.

Every trade treaty of the future, however, will certainly carry an escape clause which will make it subject to cancellation by the neutrality policy in war times.

HERE AND THERE

The planes to be used by England for trans-Atlantic weekly trips, scheduled to start in early autumn, were recently tested.

In California rice growers expect to have their fields sowed by airplane. About 150 pounds of seed are necessary for an acre, and a plane can carry about a ton of seed. The advantage lies in the fact that a flooded field can be sowed easily in this manner.

A new dirigible being built in Germany will alternate with the Hindenburg in weekly trans-Atlantic trips between Germany and the United States.

A new cannon for army planes is the 37-millimeter movable cannon, capable of firing 100 shots a minute. The shell is a high explosive and weighs 1.1 pounds.

Ten round trips of the Hindenburg cost approximately $530,000. This included every possible item of expense. The cost per mile was approximately $7.

Of all the drivers in fatal accidents, 7.3 were under the influence of liquor. One out of nine pedestrians killed during 1936 had been drinking.
